Symposium Objectives

At the completion of this symposium, participants should be able to:

- Discuss the comprehensive principles for conducting and interpreting intraoperative neurophysiological monitoring across multimodality applications of IONM
- Identify neuroanatomy and neurophysiology relevant to IONM
- Describe the principles and methods of recording and monitoring
- Develop an understanding of the elements for clinical decision making during IONM
- Develop an understanding of the basic aspects related to the business of IONM

Course Description

The theme will be Team IONM. Rather than emphasizing one aspect of ASNM such as technology or professional supervision, the focus will be on Team IONM.

- Team IONM delivers quality IONM to patients and their surgeons.
- Team IONM depends upon the technologist, the supervising professional, the integrity of the communications between them and ability to work together in giving the surgeon important neurophysiologic information.
- This course will address technologist/supervising professional (Team IONM) interaction and the team's interaction with the surgeon, anesthesiologist and operating room personnel.

We are excited about this novel symposium format and hope these “hands on” perspectives will be of value.

Target Audience

This symposium has been organized to meet the current needs of the following professionals:

- Professionals involved in intraoperative neuromonitoring of SEP, EEG, MAP and EMG potentials.
- Intraoperative monitoring professionals
- Neurophysiologists
- Neurosurgeons
- Neurologists
- Orthopedic Surgeons
- ENT Surgeons
- Anesthesiologists
- Nurses
- Audiologists
