

ASPPB's Interjurisdictional Practice Certificate

Jurisdictional Participation

The IPC grants temporary authority to practice based on notification to the licensing board of intention to practice temporarily, and verification of one's qualifications for such practice by ASPPB.

The IPC allows psychologists to provide temporary psychological services in jurisdictions that accept the IPC for up to 30 work days (a day being defined as any part of a day in which psychological work is performed) per year without obtaining full licensure in that jurisdiction. In situations where the psychologist wishes to extend the duration of the work past 30 days, the jurisdiction would determine whether the temporary permission to practice could be extended or regular licensure would be required.
