

ATLANTA BAR ASSOCIATION

LAWYERS WHO SERVE

The Atlanta Bar Association's "A Courthouse Line" series is a not-quite annual original musical theatre production written by, and starring, a cast made up entirely of talented Atlanta-area lawyers and judges. Beginning with the first production in 1999, the "Courthouse Line" series has entertained lawyers and non-lawyers alike and, in the process, has raised more than $300,000 to support the charitable activities of the Atlanta Bar Foundation. The Atlanta Bar Foundation has distributed more than $1.4 million to fund Atlanta Bar Association community service projects and other law-related programs in the Atlanta area.

This year's production, "A Courthouse Line Tribute: One Singular Sensation," will honor the creator and long-time director of the Bard Show, Cathy O'Neil, who passed away in 2017 following a courageous battle with cancer. "One Singular Sensation" will highlight some of the most memorable moments from Cathy's eight shows, and feature the talents of more than sixty lawyers, with dozens more providing support behind the scenes. The performers come from big firms, small firms, solo practices, academia, corporate counsel positions, prosecutors' offices, defense firms and the judiciary.

Please consider sponsoring this year's "A Courthouse Line Tribute: One Singular Sensation" production at any level to help us support the important charitable work of the Atlanta Bar Foundation.
