

Atlanta Bar Association

Email Marketing Information

The Atlanta Bar Association uses an email marketing service called Robly. Robly is not an open relay and has strict anti-spam policies in place. If you are not receiving our communications, please try these fixes:

1. Add your reply-to email address to their contact list. (kenglish@atlantabar.org;
azubrowski@atlantabar.org)
2. If you've already added the reply-to email address to your contact list, check your SPAM filter settings to make sure that Atlanta Bar Communications are not being blocked.
3. Check any junk or spam folders as well as your Promotions tab if you're using Gmail – the email could be in any one of these places! If the email is in your Spam folder, please mark it as Not Spam.
4. There could be a company firewall that is preventing the email from being delivered. Check with their IT department. See information to send to your IT Department below.
5. You could be using Anti-Virus or spam scanning software that is quarantining the message. Have IT this program/software.

Because your filters block emails from Robly, you may be unable to receive these communications.

For further information about Robly or to request more information from them, they may be reached by live chat support at www.Robly.com.
