BDPA AND DELOITTE UNITE TO SUPPORT IT GIANT 38TH NATIONAL TECHNOLOGY CONFERENCE

(Largo, MD) – Celebrating Fortune's '100 Best Companies to Work For' list for the 17th year, Deloitte partnered again this year at the Information Technology Giant Black Data Processing Associates (BDPA) 38th Annual National Technology Conference and Career Fair on August 9-13, 2016, at the Westin Peachtree Plaza Hotel, 210 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Georgia.

Deloitte has more than 220,000 professionals at member firms delivering services in audit, consulting, financial advisory, risk management, tax, and related services in more than 150 countries and territories. Revenues for fiscal year 2015 were US$35.2 billion (www.deloitte.com).

Mike Williams, National BDPA President reported, "We are delighted to continue our partnership with one of the leading global consulting and advisory organizations that truly values diversity."

Founded in 1975, BDPA has 46 chapters in the U.S, making it the largest African American IT association in the country. The organization continues to bridge the digital divide by providing training and career growth opportunities for its members.

Kendall Norris, Deloitte Project Management Office managing director, stated, "Since 1975, BDPA has been an organization committed to diversity, community outreach and the advancement of generations of students and professionals interested in S.T.E.M. related fields. Deloitte shares those same values and commitments, and is proud to continue the long-standing relationship and sponsorship in support of this important mission."

"The Philadelphia chapter of BDPA is honored to have and continue our long-standing corporate sponsorship with Deloitte. This partnership shows Deloitte's commitment to engaging and developing with our members as we bring innovative IT programs and services to the Philadelphia community," said Cedric Edwards, BDPA Philadelphia chapter president.
