Beacon Recognition Awards

At the November 2nd Beacon 15th Anniversary Celebration, three distinguished members of Beacon were honored with the organization's 2017 Recognition Awards.

We caught up with all three on camera prior to the event to ask various questions about their Beacon and work experiences. See it here:

Thank you to our sponsors!

Richard Marcus
Chris Pavlides
Networking for Life
Award

Richard Marcus is one of our most active networkers in Beacon, making time for any member or "friend of a friend". He's contributed significantly to Beacon. Richard served for several years as Chair of the Human Capital Management subgroup. He's served on the Governance Committee.

Richard has also been a board member for three years. Upon leaving the Board, Richard was asked by Diane to chair the Programming Committee where he helped launch the CEO Summit.

Most recently, Richard was Chair of the very successful 15th Anniversary event for Beacon, held at the beautiful Museum of the American Revolution.

Barbara Taylor
Diane James
MAC Member of the
Year

Barbara Taylor devotes an enormous amount of time to Beacon. She conceived of and started both the Guide

Program and the Women's Network. Barbara has brought excellence to all of them. She served as Chair of the Guide Program and is currently Chair of the Women's Network.

Barbara is also completing her term as chair of the Human Capital Management Subgroup.

She is always finding ways to connect with members personally and professionally to establish mutually-beneficial relationships.

Larry Badler
New Member of the

Larry Badler realized the long-term value of networking for life. For those meeting him for the first time, Larry immediately projects a confidence that is only found in long-term members. Larry attends a large number of events and connects members at those functions.

He has volunteered his time to help various subgroup chairs by sitting on their committees. Larry is clearly a brand ambassador for Beacon on all aspects of his networking activity.

Assisting with the presentation of the Chris Pavlides Networking for Life Award was Charlotte Pavlides, the widow of our founder, Chris. Nearly 200 people were on hand for the ceremony and evening's festivities at the Museum of the American Revolution.

Congratulations to the all the Beacon
Recognition Award winners for 2017.
