NonProfit Mix and Match Returns

The Beacon Nonprofit Subgroup will be present the second annual Nonprofits & Executives Mix & Match event on Wednesday, March 28th at the National Museum of American Jewish History, 101 S. Independence Mall East, Philadelphia from 4 - 7 p.m.

The event will reprise the unique format premiered last year which was very well received. In the initial speed networking segment, Beacon members can meet up to ten different area nonprofit organizations from over 75 participating agencies. Nonprofits and executives will explore matches that could lead to a number of different outcomes such as service on a Board; alignment as a designated charitable partner for a particular company; providing assistance with various nonprofit projects where a member's time and talents could be optimally employed; or even full-time professional positions with these organizations.

The speed networking activity will be followed by a traditional cocktail hour, including wine, beer, soft drinks and delicious hors d'oeuvres. During the cocktail hour, nonprofits and executives will have an opportunity to take a deeper dive with promising connections.

Nonprofit Subgroup Chair and event leader, Doug Barg, had this to say about last year's event, "Our inaugural event last spring was tremendously popular, both with the nonprofit community where we had 37 organizations present; to the numerous sponsors who supported our event; and importantly from the Beacon community who really embraced the program and participated in the entire evening's agenda."

Cohosts for this year's event alongside Beacon will be the Pennsylvania Association of Nonprofit Organizations (PANO) and the Regional Foundation

Center (RFC). Media partners are still being selected, and registration for nonprofits and executives will begin soon.

Jim Van Horn is driving the event sponsorship team again this year. "If you do business with nonprofits already, or if you'd like to be doing business, or more business, then this is an event you should consider sponsoring. We have a variety of different sponsorship packages and would love to have Beacon member companies benefit from the exposure they will get with the Mix 'n Match event.

Tickets for the event are only $25 for Beacon and nonprofit attendees. Registration for this event will begin soon, so save that date.
