

How to Sign up for courses / events

This time once logged in we navigate to the left hand column of the home page to the education blue tab.

Clicking on that tab takes us to the main education page where we first choose the chapter where we want to attend the class. Of course, you can attend any course at any chapter... you just might have to travel to it.

Education and Courses - Learning with BCA to Sail Offshore

A primary mission of BCA is to prepare sailors for offshore voyaging; to make the dream of horizon and across oceans not only feasible, but a reality for those prepared to pursue it. A cornerstone of this preparation is the delivery of appropriate and first rate marine education. These courses are generally not available elsewhere. There are four pillars to this education program:

BCA Classroom Courses - Knowledge and Certification

BCA offers a series of marine education courses designed specifically for those heading out. These courses are developed in conjunction with professional instructors, combined with the feedback of course members who provide guidance on what information those heading out really need to know. Topics include navigation, psychology of voyaging that deals with fear and apprehension, vessel operation, diesel maintenance, long distance communication and offshore weather. Courses are offered from chapter to chapter and are open to members and non-members. Prices are very competitive and lower for BCA members. For more information and to register go to the appropriate regional page. I can also click on the course of interest on the Events Calendar to the right, then click the register button and follow the registration steps.

Basic Ham Radio Licensing Course - Starts Saturday, Feb 1, 2014

The 31 hour course will cover basic ham radio regulations, procedures, safety, circuit components, antennas, radio waves and practice. The course concludes with the Industry Canada HAM Certification Exam on the final day. Students must attain over 80% on the written exam in order to qualify for HF privileges. Students will be expected to study between course days. Course cost includes a study book. Once licensed, students will be able to use ham frequencies to participate in the many marine ham radio nets and will also be able set up check in with shore-based ham radio operators while on ocean passages.
