John is Head of Nuclear Medicine Physics at UCLH and an Honorary Professor in Medical Physics at UCL. In addition to his responsibilities managing a large clinical service which includes PET/MR, PET/CT, SPECT/CT and molecular radiotherapy, he is also a keen educator and researcher. John has published over 80 peer review articles, several book chapters, and numerous online teaching resources. His current research interests are in quantification of nuclear medicine imaging including techniques in neurology.