	1. We have a full pre-opening service that can be tailored for each individual facility to ensure that employees are returning to a sterile environment. This allows some peace of mind for the returning workforce, knowing that the building is clean. After this service we leave cards on desks detailing the service to inform employees. 2. Our electrostatic spraying system has and is being utilized to sanitize facilities post Covid-19 positive test for an employee. The electrostatic application of disinfectant ensures that surfaces and areas are completely treated as the spray positively charges the liquid which then adheres to the surfaces ensuring the disinfectant can do its job. 3. We also have a new service in which we apply a treatment that can give up to 30 days residual antimicrobial defense, attached details of this service also.

	Jarrell Mechanical Contractors can help with any of the following items: ASHRAE has posted suggested actions related to HVAC systems to help limit the spread of airborne infectious diseases. With topics from ASHRAE in mind here are some steps you can take to be proactive. Outside Air At present there are no filter or building system features that remove COVID-19 from the building air so we recommend using the outside air to dilute indoor air contaminants. Increase outdoor air ventilation as much as possible keeping in mind the limitations of your HVAC systems capacity. There are programs that can be customized if your Building Automation System allows to take control of your outside air during purge control or increased minimum ventilation. Maintenance Procedures/Filters Improve central air filtration to the MERV-13 or the highest compatible with the HVAC equipment filter rack. The higher the MERV rating the more contaminants will be removed from the air stream. The higher MERV rating filters will have a higher pressure drop and will need to be changed more frequently. Make sure your HVAC maintenance is up to date, so your equipment is running at peak efficiency. Ultraviolet lights / Bipolar Ionization Both systems above are used in HVAC systems to breakdown/sterilize unhealthy mold, bacteria, and other pollutants. Depending on the type, size and configuration of your HVAC equipment our staff can help you design the proper application. These devices have an added benefit all year round not just in a pandemic.	Jarrell Mechanical Contracto	Jeff Touchette - (314) 853-0116 - jeff.Touchette@cejarell.com
