

Dean Hopkins
Chief Operations Officer

Dean Hopkins draws on over 25 years of experience as an entrepreneur, public company CEO, change agent, and thought leader to organizations seeking to leverage technology to achieve their global ambitions.

Prior to Oxford, he was the CEO of OneEleven, supporting entrepreneurial technology companies through periods of substantial growth. He spent more than a decade advising Thomson Reuters on global transformation, and he was the CEO & Co-founder of Cyberplex, an early pioneer in Internet Strategies, for 10+ years where he grew the organization from a startup to a successful public company with close to $1B in market capitalization. Dean began his career as a Business Analyst at McKinsey & Company.

Dean holds a BAsC in Systems Design Engineering from the University of Waterloo and sits as a Board Member at Rugby Ontario.