WATERFORD NAMED COMMUNITY OF EXCELLENCE

International HOA Organization Honors 5 NC Communities

LELAND, NC - The Waterford Master Residential Association has once again been chosen as a Community Associations Institute (CAI) "Community of Excellence."

The North Carolina chapter of this international organization, dedicated to building better communities, presented this award to five community associations Friday, March 22 in Charlotte. This honor recognizes the work of volunteer leaders and management professionals whose contributions exemplify excellence in self-government, leadership and stewardship in 2018.

Waterford of the Carolinas is a development of 1,010 single family homes in Leland. In particular the judges recognized its stellar response to two significant natural disasters in 2018, involving multiple volunteer committees and coordinated by leadership facing exceptional urgent challenges.

Community associations, commonly referred to as homeowner associations (HOAs), are self-governing bodies whose success is dependent on the commitment and competence of their elected leaders. Waterford of the Carolinas has exemplified community association excellence.
