CBA Forums and their essential user controls

In order to use Forums for discussions on the Catboat Association website, the user must be a Member and logged in. Otherwise, any user may read through them.

Visual tools in the browser to control Forum user actions are not present unless the user logs in. Even when logged in, they are not prominent, and so first-time users may overlook them. See screenshots below.

1/ Get there (to one forum thread - there's a fixed number)
