

NOTICE TO COUNSEL AND PARTIES

RE: Compliance with the Family Law Rules and Online Filings

Due to limited judicial resources and the resulting loss of valuable court time, the Court will require strict compliance with the Family Law Rules for all filings.

Counsel and self-represented parties are reminded that filing documents through the online portal does not guarantee acceptance of the filing. It is the responsibility of the filing party to review all email correspondence received following submission to confirm that the documents have been accepted for filing.

Where a filing has been rejected, parties must address the issue(s) and promptly refile in accordance with the Family Law Rules and applicable filing requirements.

Failure to ensure that required materials have been properly filed and accepted by the Court may result in the matter being struck from the court list or otherwise not proceeding as scheduled.

The Court appreciates the cooperation of counsel and parties in ensuring the efficient use of limited judicial resources and available court time.
