

Rebecca J. Wing

Rebecca Wing is an internationally experienced CEO, COO, General Counsel and Financial Services Expert. Ms. Wing has over 25 years of experience in advising companies. Her global experience traverses multiple continents and countries having done business in over 80 countries. Ms. Wing is also a corporate board director for a privately held manufacturer and director/corporate secretary for a real estate developer/investor. Ms. Wing was the former General Counsel for PFGBest, the world's largest retail commodity brokerage firm. Additionally, Ms. Wing is a qualified SEC financial expert.

As part of a corporate governance initiative, Ms. Wing was chosen to be one of 21 women selected for the 2009 Class of DirectWomen. She is a founding member of the Private Directors Association and serves as the Chief Compliance Officer as well as a Chicago Chapter Board of Directors. Additionally, Ms. Wing is a co-chair for the Chicago Steering Committee of 2020 Women on Boards.

A frequent panelist on Corporate Governance and past chair for the ABA–Derivatives & Futures Law Ethics Committee, Ms. Wing was also a guest lecturer at WIPL, NAWL, Skytop Strategies, Goldman Sachs 10,000 Small Businesses Program and John Marshall Law School. Ms. Wing was featured in an 2008 article appearing in Inside Counsel concerning controlling litigation cost.

Ms. Wing was awarded a JD from the University of Denver Sturm College of Law and a Bachelor of Science in Finance from Illinois State University. She is licensed to practice law in Illinois and Colorado.