Gail Kelly Award - Outstanding Dissertations

1994 Catherine Marguerite Raissiguier for her dissertation: Racial and Gender Identity Formation in the Schools: Case of Working Class Girls form Algerian and French Decent in a French Vocational School, State University of New York, Buffalo.

1998 Gustavo Fischman for his dissertation entitled The Dilemma of the Second Mothers’ Teaching: Gender and Struggle over Education in Argentina, University of California at Los Angeles.

1999 Sandra Louise Stacki for her dissertation entitled Partnerships and Processes for Teacher Empowerment: Rays of Hope for Female Teachers in India, Indiana University.

2003 Jennifer Chan-Tiberghien for her dissertation entitled The Rise of a Woman’s Human Rights Epistemic Network: Global norms and local education redefining gender politics in Japan, Stanford University.

2004 Peiying Chen for her dissertation entitled Acting otherwise: Institutionalization of women's/gender studies in Taiwan's universities, University of Southern California.

2005 Nancy Kendall for her dissertation entitled Global Policy in Practice: The "Successful Failure" of Free Primary Education in Malawi, Stanford University.

2006 Susan Shepler for her dissertation entitled Constructions of Child Soldiers in Sierra Leone, University of California at Berkeley.

2009 Peggy Kong for her dissertation entitled Old Man Moves a Mountain: Rural Parents’ Involvement in their Children’s Schooling, Harvard University.

2010 Kristin Phillips for her dissertation entitled Building the Nation from the Hinterlands, Participation, Poverty, and Education in Rural Tanzania, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

