CLA/TSC PROGRAM: YOU AND YOUR TERMINAL

How does your terminal make you feel? Do you experience eyestrain, muscular discomfort or psychological stress? Find out the facts and even some solutions at the Technical Services Chapter program on Tuesday, December 12, 9:30 - 11:30 in the San Jose Room at the Bonaventure Hotel. The physical and psychological aspects of CRT work will be discussed, with special attention given to libraries.

Speakers will be:

Walter Fraser  Head, Systems and Automation  Shields Library, UC Davis

Robert Newton  Graduate in Psychology  Claremont Graduate School

Amira Lefkowitz  Head, Bibliographic Products Division  Technical Services, UCLA

Our program will be preceded by the Chapter's annual business meeting from 8:30-9:30, also in the San Jose Room. All chapter members are invited. Come share your ideas and partake of coffee and rolls.

We look forward to seeing you at both meetings.

CATALOGING DISCUSSION GROUPS

The Technical Services Chapter's Cataloging Discussion Group is scheduled for Sunday, December 12, 4:30-6 p.m. This is an open meeting for everyone interested in talking about cataloging. Bring questions, problems, suggestions, and ideas to share. Any questions that cannot be answered during the meeting can be taken to ALA Midwinter, with responses to be sent directly to the person asking the question or to be included in a future Tech Notes Issue.

Martha Yee, a member of the RTSD Audio-Visual Cataloging Committee will report on recent activities in the a-v field and lead discussion on a-v cataloging. Dorothy McGrarry, Discussion Group convenor and a member of the Committee on Cataloging: Description and Access, will report on some of the topics that that committee will be discussing at ALA Midwinter. This will be a good opportunity for us to get acquainted, talk about current trends in cataloging, discuss recent rule interpretations and cataloging problems, and plan for future meetings which can be held on a regional basis.
