Host Committee Description

Committee members must be current members of the Society. Service on the committee is voluntary.

Parameters of Host Committee’s Charge

1. To organize a local event for one evening of the conference (and raise the funds to put on this event)—ideas to be presented to the Board of Directors at Fall Meeting by the chair(s) (Sheraton Centre Toronto, October 6 & 7, 2017—Host Committee designee not required to attend entire meeting; Host chairs invited to dinner Friday night).

2. To supply information for the program regarding “where to go and what to do, etc.” in host city (Host Committee Guide)—see deadline below.

3. Help recruiting volunteers for the conference: these will be volunteers who help you plan events and write the guide, as well as volunteers recruited to help at registration/elsewhere during the conference. We recommend recruiting graduate student volunteers early in the fall so that they can help with Host Committee Guide and event planning. More information below.

4. To help raise funds to support the conference: this is in addition to funds raised for the event planned by the Host Committee. The Host Committee or one of its home institutions may wish to support the graduate student reception, the conference reception, or other event.

5. Communicate with the SCMS Executive Director, Financial Analyst, and and Director of Conferences and Events often—all should be on the same page. This is crucial when it comes to finances and travel for host committee events.

6. Coordinate and meet with the Board and Staff to discuss the year’s conference events—the HCCs (host committee chairs) are part of the process that could be deemed a sort of annual conference events subcommittee. The Executive Director, President, Program Coordinator, Financial Analyst/Program Scheduler, Program Chair, SIG/Caucus Liaisons, and the Director of Conferences and Events should all be in the loop regarding events. This is to encourage greater communication in planning, to avoid duplication or overlap. All are tasked with help in selecting events for the conference. We receive several proposals each year. You will receive the proposals from the SCMS office around September 22. You will want to announce your recommendations at the Fall Board of Directors meeting in October. The Host Committee is not responsible for fundraising or organizing any of these other proposed events. The Board of Directors has the discretion to fund all or part of an event proposal. The HCCs are asked to assist the Board with this because they will know what the HC is planning and what events might work well with them.

We have found that oftentimes additional host committee members are signed up to raise funds from other institutions, even though one or two core members do most of the heavy work.
THE HOST COMMITTEE GUIDE

The Host Committee Guide is a list of local restaurants (breakfast, lunch, and dinner—open weekdays and weekends, in a variety of price ranges) and attractions within walking distance, or a short cab ride or easy public transportation included in the printed program—also always included: a list of other useful businesses (pharmacies, copy shops, convenience stores, etc.) and attractions of interest to SCMS members (museums, bookstores, theatres, record stores, comic shops, etc.) or local events taking place concurrently with the annual conference (theater, films series, museum exhibits), as well as LBGTQ friendly spots and kid-friendly attractions.

You might wish to form a graduate student volunteer conference guide sub-committee to put together the guide in the form of a Microsoft Word document.

When it is submitted, most importantly, we are looking for consistency in the listings. The committee should follow previous conference program host committee documents as their template. The Montreal host committee did a particularly good job on the guide. You might wish to emulate it. Use the same headings. You can find all programs under “Past Conferences” on the SCMS website. We have also attached the most recent Chicago guide. Please pay attention to how times are listed, for example 11:30 AM to 10:00 PM (is there a space between the # and AM/PM?, is AM/PM in all caps?, etc—again, we are looking for consistency), the order that addresses, phone numbers, websites, type of food (French, American, Japanese, etc.), average price of a meal, that sort of thing are listed. If you are utilizing graduate students to work on this, we are more than happy to send them copies of last year’s program so they have it for reference. Just let us know where to send them. If you have any questions about this, email (or call) Leslie LeMond at <leslielemond@scmsconference.com>. A quick 5-minute phone call can save you a lot of time later.

FUNDRAISING

We know that sometimes funding sources at respective institutions are “tagged” as unavailable for certain things (food or drink, for instance), and that it is important to some administrators to know “what” the money will be used for. SCMS is happy to discuss this with said administrators. We can always apply funds to other things such as registration materials, awards, conference supplies, signage, audio visual equipment, etc.

Leslie LeMond will send HCC the current year’s sponsorship materials so you are aware of the basics. You will have the updated, final version for your given year/conference in October. We have attached a previous fundraising letter that you may wish to use as a template.

Fundraising Goal: we don’t have a “goal amount”. The amounts that have been raised for past conferences have varied widely. Sponsors are listed in the program, on signage at the hotel, they are mentioned at conference events and on the SCMS website. If the sponsors want to attend the conference or the events they sponsor, we would also want to acknowledge their presence and would waive the registration fee for them.

GRADUATE STUDENT VOLUNTEERS

You will want to start recruiting graduate student volunteers early in the fall so that they can help with Host Committee Guide and event planning. Good and early communications with the graduate student community helps everything. You will also recruit volunteers to help at registration during the conference. You will need to contact the SCMS Home Office at <scms-office@ou.edu> for an exact count. It will likely be around 44 volunteers needed for registration.

Three to four graduate students can have their registration fees waived in return for their service if they do the heavy lifting on the Host Committee Guide. If the students who will receive the registration waivers are not current SCMS members, the office staff will need their information (name, email, affiliation) to create a profile so that we can get them into the database and create name badges for them. You will also send us their names so that we can acknowledge their work in the program (this is noted below in “deadlines”).
PLANNING

Email any of the past host committee chairs/co-chairs for assistance throughout the process:

Ariel Rogers
Assistant Professor, Department of Radio-Television-Film, Screen Cultures Program
Northwestern University
ariel.rogers@northwestern.edu
Host Committee Co-Chair, Chicago 2017

Eric Freedman
Dean, School of Media Arts
Columbia College Chicago
efreedman@colum.edu
Host Committee Co-Chair, Chicago 2017

Alessandra Raengo
Associate Professor, Moving Image Studies, Department of Communication
Georgia State University
araengo@gsu.edu
Host Committee Co-Chair, Atlanta 2016

Matthew Bernstein
Professor, Department of Film and Media Studies
Emory University
mbernst@emory.edu
Host Committee Co-Chair, Atlanta 2016

Another helpful contact:

Haidee Wasson
Associate Dean of Research and Graduate Studies, Faculty of Fine Arts
Concordia University
Haidee.Wasson@concordia.ca
Host Committee Chair, Montreal 2015

Once your committee is formed, assign duties to committee members—which members are in charge of planning an event? Who oversees recruiting volunteers? Who supervises the guide? Who is in charge of LGBTQ listings? Family listings? What will each of you ask from your home institution in terms of funds, space, extra help? For the first time this year, in the week leading up to the October Board Meeting, Jill Simpson will be conducting in person meetings with faculty of your home institutions which you are encouraged to attend.

Again, good and early communications with the graduate student community helps everything.

Make sure to have clear deadlines on the program content and count back. Chairs may wish to assign members early internal deadlines, to ensure that SCMS deadlines are met.
DEADLINES

The HC timeline is essentially the program deadline. In addition, a great deal of HC deadlines will be local and dependent on what is planned.

ASAP—Request funds from your home institution as well other area/regional institutions.

ASAP—Start recruiting graduate student volunteers early in the fall so that they can help with Host Committee Guide and event planning.

September 15—Conference Event Proposals due to SCMS Office.

Week of September 18—Home Office will email all Conference Event Proposals to you.

October 6–7—Present proposed events at Fall Board Meeting. HCC invited to Friday Board Dinner. Ideally, meet with Executive Director, Jill Simpson and Director of Conferences and Events, Leslie LeMond at the Board Meeting as well. If possible, Program Chair Nick Davis should attend as well.

November 28—Host Committee guide and events due to home office. Include names and affiliations of Host Committee members, and anyone who has sponsored, helped. (Example attached)

January 15—Make sure LeMond has all wording and sponsor logos/necessary logos for the “thanks” or acknowledgements in the conference program. (See example attached). Members of the host committee are responsible for providing their own institution’s logo.

January 20 (this may also be earlier)—deadline for student volunteers to be signed up and names submitted to home office.

January 25—LeMond will need a few, highly responsible, paid assistants during the conference. If you can help recruit a student/a few students you think fit the bill and send me their email addresses, I will send them an online sign up form.

• Job pays $20 cash/hr paid at the end of their shift
• Tuesday AM—2 assistants to help assist with set up—approximately 3 hrs/ea
• Friday—1 assistant to help with various conference management needs as well as assisting in the exhibit area (sweep through exhibit hall to allow exhibitors with only one representative to run to the restroom, etc.)—2-3 hrs in the middle of the day (exact time TBD)
• Saturday—1 assistant to help with striking the exhibit area (likely 2 hrs—exact time TBD)
• Sunday—1 assistant to help wrap stuff up in conference office (exact time TBD—likely 2-3 hrs)

LeMond can answer any questions about these positions at the board meeting in the Fall.

Around the last week of January/first week of February—you will be asked by LeMond to proof portions of conference program that have to do with host committee.

THANK YOU—much of any year’s success is due to the hard work by the Host Committee!
ATTACHMENTS

1. An example of what you will turn in re: names and affiliations of Host Committee members, and anyone who has sponsored, helped—as well as an example of the Special Thanks section of program—you will be asked if you would like to contribute any names to this list in late January. It is not mandatory—only for people or students who have gone over and beyond.

2. An example of all wording and sponsor logos/necessary logos for the “thanks” or acknowledgements in the conference program. Members of the host committee are responsible for providing their own institution’s logo.

3. Examples of an institution logo (for print/high res) can be found here <http://www.ou.edu/brand.html> or <http://www.northwestern.edu/brand/brand-assets/>. Most universities have logos available for download and a style guide on how their logos are to be used. An example of the University of Toronto style guide is <https://www.oise.utoronto.ca/oise/UserFiles/File/UofT_StyleGuide_2011_NEW.pdf>. Please make sure to send us the university, department, or college logo “for print” not the web (not a .jpg file). Be aware, each university/company might call the division in charge of logos and usage something different—one example, York University calls it the “Communications and Public Affairs” Division.

4. Sample letter for requesting funds

5. Host Committee Guide (from the 2017 Conference program)

6. The past 2 years Host Committee Event Listings (from the Conference programs)

7. An example of a past Event Proposal (so you can see what they look like)

FUNDRAISING LETTER TEMPLATE

[Please cc XX and XX, host committee co-chairs]

Dear XX

This year I am serving as a member of the Host Committee for the upcoming Society for Cinema and Media Studies annual meeting, which will take place in Chicago at the Drake Hotel, March 6-10, 2013. SCMS is the leading professional organization of cinema, television and digital media scholars in the U.S. The annual conference is attended by participants—from senior scholars to graduate students -- from across the country and around the world, [including xx students and faculty—if applicable; maybe mention other connections to SCMS, e.g., your involvement, any award winners from your campus].

The Host Committee works to ensure that conference participants feel welcome in the Chicago area, and to guide the planning of special events. The biggest night of the conference will be Friday, March 8, when we will hold the annual Awards Ceremony and Reception at the Drake, both of which are open to all attendees. We are also organizing screenings at the Gene Siskel Film Center on Thursday, March 7, and at UIC’s Gallery 400 on Saturday, March 9, both of which will showcase the extraordinary history and collections of film and video in Chicago.

Host Committee members represent institutions around Chicago, and we hope that our own institutions will support these events as co-sponsors. Host committee co-chair Jacqueline Stewart started our fundraising at Northwestern University, and has raised just over $7000 on her campus (see below). We are working to raise $12,000 total from Chicago-area schools.

If NAME THE OFFICE could sponsor the SCMS conference at $AMOUNT, this would put us in an excellent position to meet our goal. INSTITUTION/OFFICE would be recognized in conference printed materials and acknowledged at the awards ceremony, where the field’s highest honors for scholarly publications, teaching, and service conferred.

Thanks for your consideration, and please let me know if I can provide any additional information.

Host Committee Recommendations

Need to Know

Most common credit cards are widely accepted. ATMs are widespread across the city in bank offices, convenience stores, and pharmacies.

Further tourist information is available online at choosechicago.com.

From O’Hare and Midway International Airports to the Conference Hotel

CHICAGO TRANSIT AUTHORITY (CTA)

The elevated train system of the Chicago Transit Authority (CTA) has convenient transport to and from both of Chicago’s international airports. The Blue Line, with access to O’Hare, runs 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The Orange Line, with access to Midway, runs Monday through Saturday from 4 a.m. to 1 AM, and Sundays with service ending at 11 PM.

From O’Hare International Airport: Take the Blue Line to the Clark and Lake stop. Then either take a cab to the hotel or walk East on Lake St. to Michigan Ave. Cross Michigan and continue to Stetson Ave.; you can walk up and across the hotel plaza to the front door.

From Midway International Airport: Take the Orange Line to the Clark and Lake stop, then follow directions above.

Trains originating from the O’Hare Station cost $5.00 per ride. You may purchase single-ride or 1-day tickets at Ventra machines located in the airports.

More information on CTA transport to and from the airports can be found at transitchicago.com/airports/.
Getting Around Town

Walking

Chicago is a walkable city—flat and easy to explore with a good pair of walking shoes. In March, any type of weather is possible, both in terms of temperature and precipitation, so plan accordingly when packing. The areas around the Fairmont Hotel and N. Michigan Ave. are relatively safe. Still, it would not be advisable to walk in alleys or dark areas by oneself after midnight.

CTA

If you are traveling within the city, one of the easiest ways to get around is by train. Traffic can be particularly heavy in the Loop and Magnificent Mile areas near the conference hotel. The CTA operates both subway and elevated ("L") train lines, with over 140 train stations and more than 240 miles of track. Stations are located throughout the city and nearby suburbs, including Evanston and Oak Park.

The underground subway stations closest to the hotel are Lake (State St. between Lake and Randolph streets) on the Red Line, and Clark/Lake (Lake St. between Clark and LaSalle streets) on the Blue Line. The Red and Blue lines each run 24 hours a day.

The elevated above-ground stations closest to the conference hotel are Randolph/Wabash and State/Lake. In addition to the Blue and Orange lines that service the airports, the Brown Line serves neighborhoods to the north and northwest, the Green Line provides access to Oak Park, and the Purple Line serves Evanston. Please note that these lines do not run all night.

The CTA system also features a number of bus routes with stops along Michigan Ave. You will find train and bus route maps and hours of operation at transitchicago.com.

A one-way ride on the bus or train is $2.25, except for lines to and from the airports. For trains, you may purchase single-ride or 1-day tickets at Ventra machines located in all stations. You may pay your bus fare with either a Ventra card or cash (note that drivers do not carry change). If you are considering multiple rides during your stay in Chicago, consider purchasing a reloadable Ventra card, available at train stations and many CVS and Walgreens stores. The Ventra card machine closest to the Fairmont Hotel is located in the CVS store at 205 N. Michigan Ave., near Lake St.

Stay safe on trains and buses. Keep your possessions in bodily contact and be aware of your surroundings. It is advisable to travel in groups if you are going out late at night.

Taxis

Hailing a cab and riding in Chicago are easy in the Loop and N. Michigan Ave. areas. Chicago taxicabs don’t have a uniform make or color, so just look for the light on the top of the cab. Rates are as follows: Base fare is $3.25, with each additional mile $2.25; every 36 seconds of time elapsed is $0.20. The first additional passenger is $1.00 extra, with each additional passenger after the first being an extra $0.50. The departure tax for airport destinations is $4.00.

The cab should have proof of registration and a photo ID of the driver posted for the passenger to see. Taxi drivers generally don’t mind if you have more than four passengers. Drivers are required to accept credit cards, although they occasionally do not specify this.

TAXI CAB APP—taxicabapp.com

Need a ride? With the click of a button, TaxiCab app connects you with licensed taxis to get you where you’re going quickly and safely. They meet high-standards, including insurance, training, and background checks. You can download the app for free on iTunes and Google Play.
CHECKER CAB
Order a Checker cab by text message: 1) text your address (no city, state or zip code) to 312–520–3029; 2) when asked enter your full name (ex: Jane Doe); 3) to get status of where your cab is—text status; 4) to cancel your trip—text cancel.

CURB—gocurb.com
Curb connects you to safe, reliable rides from professional drivers. Download Curb for iPhone or Android to request your ride with the tap of a button, track your driver’s arrival, and pay your fare seamlessly.

Uber and Lyft
Both Uber and Lyft operate in the Chicagoland area and offer competitive rates.

SPECIAL EVENT

Saturday, April 2

6:30 – 10:30 PM

Civil Encounters with Black Media and Black Life

LOCATION Center for Civil and Human Rights,
100 Ivan Allen Jr. Blvd. NW

Please refer to Atlanta vicinity map on page 35 for location.

Join us for panels and a screening at the Center for Civil and Human Rights, an immersive, multi-mediatic and interactive environment which archives the Civil Rights Movement within its historic media landscape.

The first 200 attendees will be able to visit the Center's Civil Rights and Human Rights Galleries for free (with their SCMS badge) during the evening. Seats are on a first come/first served basis. There will be a cash bar.

6:30–7:00 PM Host Committee Reception

7:00–8:00 PM Atlanta on the Rise:
The Emerging African-American Television Industry

Thanks to a tax incentive program, Atlanta is now the third biggest producer of film and television in the United States and the location of big-budget film franchises such as the Hunger Games, Insurgent, or Marvel’s cinematic universe. While these productions do not reflect the cultural specificity of the region, television series with African-American casts and producers shoot nearly year-round do, by taking on issues of gender, economics, and equality. This panel offers an opportunity to hear from the creative community and to hear their thoughts on casting, representation, and tax-incentives designed to foster creative labor.

Kristen Warner • University of Alabama
Racquel Gates • SUNY, Staten Island
Chase Paris and Tara Feldstein Bennett • Casting for Atlanta (FX)
Alpha Tyler • casting for The Game (BET)
8:15–9:45 PM  Can Blackness be Loved?

A screening of Dreams Are Colder Than Death (Arthur Jafa, 2013, 52 min), a lyrical mediation on the legacy of Martin Luther King’s “I have a dream” speech, which gives way to a philosophical reflection on the ontology of blackness and its relationship to life, death, and the possibility of love in the context of the “afterlife of slavery.” The screening will be followed by a panel discussion with Arthur Jafa, Kara Keeling (University of Southern California), and George Yancy (Emory University).

9:45–10:30 PM  Dessert Reception

DIRECTIONS the Center for Civil and Human Rights is a 15-minute walk or a short taxi/Uber ride from the conference hotel. If walking, turn right onto Courtland St. heading north, then left onto Ralph McGill Blvd, which becomes Ivan Allen Jr. Blvd. The Center is located between the World of Coca-Cola and the Georgia Aquarium.

* Attendees will be able to freely visit the Center’s Civil Rights and Human Rights Galleries during the evening

Chicago Shorts
7:30 – 9:00 PM

LOCATION Charlie Chaplin Auditorium ➔ Essanay Studios
at St. Augustine College, 1345 W. Argyle Street

This anthology screening showcases short films produced in Chicago, from the silent era to the present. Reflecting the diverse community of filmmakers working in the city, this program provides a look into Chicago’s rich media production history. The event venue is Essanay Studios, the former home of Essanay Film Manufacturing Company, a studio founded in 1907 and perhaps best known for its 1915 Chaplin comedies. The screening will be preceded by opening remarks about the program, which includes selections from the Chicago Film Archives.

DIRECTIONS to Essanay Studios from the conference hotel via the Red Line (the Red Line is a 10-minute walk from the hotel): Take the pedestrian tunnel. Turn left on East Randolph Street. Turn right onto North State Street. Enter the Red Line at Lake—188 N. State Street. Head north on the Red Line (toward Howard). Exit the Red Line at Argyle. Head west on Argyle toward North Broadway. Turn left onto North Broadway. Turn right to continue on Argyle. Essanay will be on your left.

Admission is free to this event with an SCMS conference name badge. Seating is limited. To reserve your ticket, please register in advance through Eventbrite: https://scms2017.eventbrite.com

After Party

9:00 – 11:00 PM

LOCATION Replay Andersonville ➔ Food, Drinks, and Vintage Video Arcade Games
5358 N. Clark Street

Join fellow conference attendees for cocktails, food, and vintage arcade games at Replay in Andersonville, just a short walk from Essanay Studios.

DIRECTIONS the Replay Bar is a 10-minute walk from Essanay Studios. Continue west on Argyle to North Clark Street. Turn right onto North Clark Street. Head north on North Clark Street for approximately 7 blocks. Replay will be on your left.

2015 Conference Event Proposal - “Remembering the Life and Legacy of Alexander Doty”

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Conference Event Proposal Title *</th>
<th>Remembering the life &amp; legacy of Alexander Doty</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Proposing Caucus(es)/SIG(s) *</td>
<td>Queer Caucus</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brief Summary (300 words or less) *</td>
<td>Alexander M. Doty devoted his life to revolutionizing the way we think about sexuality and media. His combination of intellectual rigor and fearless vision has inspired and motivated countless scholars, activists, and filmmakers to become active participants and leaders in the field of queer media studies. This event will honor Alex as a highly respected scholar and founding member of the SCMS Queer Caucus, whose untimely passing will be mourned by many generations of scholars to come. In celebrating his life and work, the event will feature presentations from luminaries in queer media studies who will each address the particular ways in which Alex’s work influenced them professionally and personally. The event will open with remarks from Christine Holmlund, who, with Doty, co-founded the SCMS Queer Caucus (originally known as the Lesbian &amp; Gay Caucus). She will provide an account of her work with Doty to found the caucus, offering current members an invaluable context for this history. Her remarks will be followed by presentations from a series of scholars including Corey Creekmur, Mary Gray, Sean Griffin, and Kara Keeling. Each presenter will highlight the ways in which Doty’s scholarship and mentorship played a key role in the development of their own work and the field of queer media studies more generally. Their presentations will include clips of films and television shows that inspired Doty’s work and that have resonated with queer fans and scholars for decades. The event will be followed by a reception to allow those in attendance to share stories and reminisce about Doty's life and the impact of his work.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Appeal/Benefits to Caucus/SIG and SCMS Members (300 words or less) *</td>
<td>The event will offer a formal space for caucus and other SCMS members to honor Doty’s instrumental role in the founding of the SCMS Queer Caucus, a network of scholars, which throughout its history, has offered a platform for members to find professional connections and guidance as well as vital sources for mentorship. It will also provide a space for celebrating and honoring his contributions to the field of queer media studies. Although Doty did not claim to have invented queer cultural reading as a scholarly practice, he certainly wowed many with the brilliance, daring, and sincerity of his interpretations, ones often deeply rooted in his personal, affective experiences of the cultural forms he was studying. In so doing, he succeeded in showing countless other students of film and television texts why it is so vital to engage in critical practices, why it is essential to be good at them, as well as what is at stake in many identity-based scholar-fandoms, like those often engaged in by LGBTQ subjects and scholars. This event will offer a broad range of scholars an opportunity to articulate the ways in which, he has, and will continue to</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Inform and empower queer scholars and fans. Through this event, SCMS will pay tribute to Alexander Doty and his work, and will carry on the legacy he started with the Queer Caucus, bringing together scholars in the spirit of collegiality, intellectual curiosity, and solidarity.

Brief Summary (300 words or less)
  For many, Chicago was not always "home." In the early twentieth century African Americans seeking to leave the racial climate of the American South behind and Mexican migrants seeking work far north of the border joined European migrants new to the city. Today, one out of seven residents of the state of Illinois is an immigrant; almost 34% of those migrants, who come from all over the world, live in Chicago. Inspired by Chicago as a hub for migration, this event explores mediatized representations of the movement and dispersal—voluntary or forced—of populations across the world. The event will bring together experimental media and screen practices that articulate the post-cinematic—how film appears ubiquitous in the museum and on the street, on planes and in cars, and across new digital communication platforms—with inquiries into the movement of people, commodities, ideas, and cultures.

  The program of shorts begins with three experimental documentaries that explore migration: Robert Fenz’s structural documentary on the US-Mexico border, Tuan Nguyen and the Superflex Collective’s rhythmic documentary short about the construction of a migrant boat in Comoros, and Fabio Palmieri’s hypnotic exploration of the refugee crisis in the Mediterranean. These will be followed by three films on the historical legacy of the Atlantic Slave Trade: Carlos Javier Ortiz’s experimental short on the legacy of the Great Migration in Chicago; Ephraim Asili’s essay film comparing the rhythms of everyday life in Harlem and Salvador, Brazil; and Mónica Savirón’s collage film that pays homage to the freedom of movement. The program concludes with an experimental fiction film on displacement by Alireza Khatami. The program includes a post-screening conversation between scholars—so far Pooja Rangan (Amherst College) has confirmed—and the U.S.-based filmmakers (Ortiz, who is currently based in Chicago, and Khatami) whose work appears in the program.
The Latinx Caucus conceptualized this event as an opportunity to explore common interests across Caucuses and Scholarly Interest Groups. The theme of migration and displacement is one that many of our members explore in their work but also one that is taken up across cinematic traditions. Rather than examining feature film treatments of this theme we were anxious to explore the ways that documentary and experimental filmmakers, whose work itself traverses boundaries explored a theme of critical importance both historically and in our contemporary moment.

The program itself is the result of a collaborative curatorial process. In a series of meetings the event committee met with representatives of co-sponsoring Caucuses and SIGs to flesh out a programmatic vision for the event and select titles that would create a provocative yet cohesive set of screenings. Because so many groups have contributed to the event in both its conception and in the form of funds to realize it, we anticipate having robust attendance. What is more, this event as conceptualized provides an important opportunity for cross-interest group and Caucus dialogue around a set of texts that speak to overlapping scholarly interests. Hosting the event at a venue off-site but within walking distance will allows us to include the vibrant Chicago film and media community as well as students and faculty from area institutions.
