

CMTA CONVERSATIONS: LIES, DAMNED LIES AND ECONOMIC FORECASTS

"A framework for thinking about economic forecasts along with a way to visualize them."

DATE

Thursday, August 29, 2019

11:30 AM - 1:00 PM

LOCATION

Mayfair Park

5720 Clark Avenue

Sierra Room

Lakewood, CA 90712

Parking: Enter parking lot from South Street or Fidler Avenue. The park is on the corner of Clark and South Street.

Lunch provided courtesy of sponsor

PiperJaffray

REALIZE THE POWER OF PARTNERSHIP®

REGISTER ONLINE! | COST: FREE
to CMTA members, $30 for non-members

<https://www.cmta.org/events/EventDetails.aspx?id=1263968>

Seating is limited. Lunch will be provided.

PRESENTER

Kevin Webb, CFA

Principal at Piper Jaffray

Kevin Webb is constantly seeking sleep-adjusted returns in a sleepless world. He holds the Chartered Financial Analyst designation and is a member of both the CFA Institute and Global Association of Risk Professionals.

DESCRIPTION

Mark Twain quipped that there are "Lies, Damned Lies and Statistics". That is a common sentiment concerning forecasts as well. This session provides a framework for thinking about economic forecasts along with a way to visualize them. Using historical economic forecasts, economic data, The Iliad and Hurricanes this session will take Twain's quip and help you navigate the "Lies, Damned Lies and Economic Forecasts". No economists were harmed in the preparation of this talk...

