The Winter Leadership Conference provides timely learning on the topics I care about most as a district leader. The keynote and breakout sessions are always of the highest caliber and there is no better opportunity during the school year to connect with so many of my colleagues from across the state. I always find the keynotes valuable. Jimmy Casas opened our Thursday General Session by challenging educators to avoid complacency and not settle for merely the status quo. He asked attendees to inspire greatness by raising expectations for their students and create an environment that fostered pride in supporting others. As aspiring superintendents, we must always be looking for growth opportunities and building leaders heard from the experts on key developments and legal issues related to school safety. This year's conference keynote was delivered by Jimmy Casas and CASE was also pleased to offer a workshop for those aspiring to the superintendency role.”
