Attendees at the 2022 CASE Winter Leadership Conference will have the opportunity to select between joining two 75-minute breakout sessions or one two-hour deep dive in a Summit Seminar. Descriptions of the two Summit Seminars being offered are below.

1. RETHINKING EDUCATION: LOOKING TO THE FUTURE WITH LEARNING 2025
Presented by International Center for Leadership in Education founder, Dr. Bill Daggett, and former New York State Commissioner of Education, Mary Ellen Elia

If you had the opportunity to rethink our public education system, what would you change? What supports would you need to prepare your staff to reengineer instruction with an emphasis on student readiness for the future rather than an assessment of learning achievement?

Join us for this Summit Seminar as we explore these and other key questions designed to push your thinking about the possibilities for K-12. This session will examine the elements of a well-prepared student, whether the skills we think of as aspirational are in fact the right ones and whether our current instructional model reflects the changes that have taken place in the workforce.

Dr. Daggett and Ms. Elia will introduce participants to four quadrants of foundational skills that will help ensure students thrive: cognitive, interpersonal, self-leadership and digital skills. They will lead rich conversation about how a holistic view of staff helps create better shared ownership for student learning, and a coordinated approach rather than one that is siloed. You won't want to miss this timely conversation that will not only expand your thinking about what's possible in education and will also help you develop a roadmap to get there.

2. THE PARTNERSHIP: SURVIVING & THRIVING
Presented by education leader and author, Andrew Marotta

Want to have better, stronger relationships with your stakeholders? Tired of getting/feeling beat-up? Want to improve your public speaking and communication skills? Have people coming at you way too hard and not sure how to handle it and want some effective strategies? Feel like you are being too reactive instead of more proactive in your relationships? Come join Andrew Marotta and be part of the fun, interactive, and thought-provoking workshop, The Partnership: Surviving & Thriving: Building better relationships through proactive and intentional actions.

In this energy-filled workshop, Andrew will lead you through a variety of strategies, techniques, tips, and hacks that will help improve your overall communication and interactions with your stakeholders: staff, students, and parents. A few examples are:

- The difficult one-on-one conversation
- Awareness of body language
- The ‘ladder’ of active listening
- The large assembly setting: and how to own it
- Presence
- E + R = O
- The energy of your office and school building setting
- Successful vs. significant, plus many more!

The goal of this workshop is that you feel more confident, comfortable, and prepared to handle the many complex and challenging social situations that are rapidly coming at school leaders in today’s world.
