

CASE

The mission of CASE is to serve as the dynamic voice for education leadership in all Colorado K-12 public schools. Since its inception in 1969, CASE has emerged as an effective and viable organization. CASE is valued by its members for high-quality professional development, advocacy for the profession and public education, legal assistance, and networking opportunities. CASE is organized as a state-wide umbrella association, serving seven job-alike departments—each with an elected legal governing board. CASE is governed by a Coordinating Council with representatives from each department and is committed to departmental sanctity, rotating presidential positions among all the departments. The Center for Excellence in Educational Leadership is a 501(c)3 affiliate organization, providing professional learning opportunities for CASE members. Ongoing CASE and The Center committees include the CASE Legislative Committee, Professional Development Advisory Group, Leadership Development Diversity Council, and the Technology Advisory Group.
