

LEAD

Leadership, Equity and Diversity Program

- Master leadership qualities in your current position
- Discover how to pursue a greater leadership role in your school or district
- Develop an action plan for pursuing leadership roles

2024-2025 PROGRAM OVERVIEW

As diversity continues to grow across the state of Colorado, there is still too little opportunity for students to encounter positive leadership role models of similar culture, race and/or ethnicity in their schools and districts. CASE is committed to supporting aspiring leaders of color in order to build a more representative, diverse and equitable candidate pool for leadership positions in both school and district administration across Colorado. Through thoughtful instructor presentations, self-reflection, online discussions, learning assignments and networking with peers, participants in the CASE LEAD program will assess their leadership capacity, and opportunities for growth, as well as understand more about the kind of leadership roles they may want to pursue.

WHO SHOULD APPLY?

Aspiring leaders of color who would like to explore becoming a teacher leader, or school or district administrator are welcome to apply to the program. Only those who can commit to full attendance and participation should apply. Applications are competitive, as space is limited for this program to ensure participants have ample time for learning, dialogue and networking.

WHERE CAN I FIND MORE INFORMATION?

Stay up to date with information on the LEAD program by scanning the QR code below or by going to <https://www.co-case.org/page/2024-25LEAD>. Application window opens on August 13, 2024 and applications due on August 30, 2024. The application process is competitive. Not all applicants will be accepted into the program. A letter of approval and endorsement to participate is required from the applicant's supervisor. A minimum number of registrants is required to hold the seminar series. Applicants will be notified regarding acceptance by September 13; so please save the seminar dates once you apply.

WHAT IS THE COST?

A nominal fee of $95 from each participant is required. The cost of the program is supported by CASE and sponsorship contributions.

WILL CREDIT BE OFFERED?

Yes. Participants who have met the requirements may 1) apply for college credit through Adams State University, or 2) receive contact hours for recertification. Please note that this is not an administrative licensure program.
