THANK YOU
Dear Colleagues,

We’d like to personally welcome each of you to the American Academy of Cosmetic Surgery’s 2023 Annual Scientific Meeting. On behalf of the AACS Board of Trustees and the Annual Scientific Committee, welcome to beautiful San Diego. With an incredible roster of distinguished faculty and lecturers, together we will “focus on mastery.” The field of cosmetic surgery is ever-evolving, and this meeting offers an exciting arena in which we can bring together inspired and inquisitive people to share their ideas and innovations to ensure our society remains at the cutting edge of advancements.

Many master lectures have been added to this year’s meeting that cover such specialties as regenerative medicine and surgery, oculoplastics, dermatology, and plastic surgery. Further highlights on important topics affecting our field include hair restoration, liposuction, face lift, and jurisprudence. So critical to a practice’s success, cosmetic surgery patient safety is emphasized from the opening of the pre-conference Cadaver Workshop to the end of the program, culminating with the venerable Complications Session. Fat grafting to the buttocks, and advocacy for the safe practice thereof, among all the procedures we celebrate within our specialty, is at the top of our collective minds; this meeting will focus on this critical topic thoroughly and with deserving respect.

As we introduced at last year’s meeting, this year’s program will also strive to pack in the most concise, stimulating education sessions followed by some wonderful “wind down” events, such as coffee breaks, the Passport Prizes game in the Exhibit Hall, or the Webster Society Gala, where you can continue to exchange ideas and knowledge in a less formal setting. In addition, the two-day track for our Allied Health colleagues will be filled with many practical pearls and insights that can be put into immediate practice upon their return to the office.

We’d like to thank each of you for attending this annual meeting. We are eager to share the exciting achievements that have occurred in our field since we last met and to stimulate the ideas and accomplishments that will steer the year ahead. It is the engagement and vision that each of you bring to our society and to our meetings that guide the AACS as it paves the way as the leader in the field of cosmetic surgery.

Warmest regards,

Alex Sobel, DO, FAACS

His emphasis on education is built into a current strategic pillar, “AACS seeks to raise the standard of cosmetic surgical practice and improve the quality of care for cosmetic surgery patients.”

Dr. Webster’s legacy is weaved into the Annual Scientific Meeting programming. The Cosmetic Surgery Foundation Webster Lecturer recognizes a leader that has advanced the cosmetic surgery specialty. Webster Society donations fund cosmetic surgery education for the next generation of cosmetic surgeons.

Finally, Dr. Webster’s lasting imprint is celebrated at the Webster Dinner.

If you donate to the Cosmetic Surgery Foundation in the amount of $1,200, you become a member of the Webster Society and among other acknowledgements, you receive 2 tickets to the Webster Society Gala. However, even if you are not a member of the Webster Society, we cordially invite you to attend this event and purchase tickets during the Annual Scientific Meeting registration process.

DR. RICHARD WEBSTER’S LEGACY (1918-1994)

Richard Webster, MD referred to as “the father of cosmetic surgery,” was instrumental in the formation of the American Academy of Cosmetic Surgery. As the first AACS President, 1985-1987, his organizational practices reflected his vision of cosmetic surgeons from multiple surgical specialties teaching and learning from one another.

As AACS continues to grow and change, Dr. Webster’s philosophy still guides the organization and is reflected in the current mission statement, a “multi-disciplinary professional association advancing excellence and safety in cosmetic surgery and aesthetic medicine.”

His emphasis on education is built into a current strategic pillar, “AACS seeks to raise the standard of cosmetic surgical practice and improve the quality of care for cosmetic surgery patients.”

Dr. Webster’s legacy is weaved into the Annual Scientific Meeting programming. The Cosmetic Surgery Foundation Webster Lecturer recognizes a leader that has advanced the cosmetic surgery specialty. Webster Society donations fund cosmetic surgery education for the next generation of cosmetic surgeons. Finally, Dr. Webster’s lasting imprint is celebrated at the Webster Dinner.

Professor Everts is an Internationally recognized educator, scientist, and contributor in the area of chronic complex wound healing and other regenerative medicine applications, featuring blood-derived product in devascularized wounds, osteomyelitis, trauma, and wound care protocols. He has published over 70 peer-reviewed articles, including the first textbook on Platelet-Rich Plasma. He is the Chief Scientific Officer of EmCyte Corp. and Program director of Gulf Coast Biologics Research & Educational Center. Recently appointed International Professor at the Frontiers Health Program of the Faculty of Medicine of the Max Planck University Center (Indaiatuba – Sao Paulo Brasil). His responsibilities include teaching and management of clinical projects in non-interventional regenerative and orthobiological therapies.

He established the first fully integrated wound care clinic in The Netherlands, including hyperbaric oxygen (HBO), PRP/PPP, and Adipose Tissue Complex.

In 1985 Jeffrey A. Klein, MD invented the tumescent technique for local anesthesia consisting of dilute subcutaneous Tumescent Epinephrine Lidocaine (TEL) for bloodless painless liposuction totally by local anesthesia. In 1989 he developed the first sterile tumescent infiltration tubing for use with an off-the-shelf laboratory peristaltic pump, which permitted power-assisted subcutaneous infiltration of large volumes of TEL. In 1990 he founded HK Surgical, Inc., a surgical device company focused on tumescent drug delivery (TDD) of lidocaine and many other injectable drugs.

Jeff grew up surfing in San Clemente, California. When he graduated from UC Riverside (BA, Mathematics, 1967) he had saved $1000 which sustained him for the next 12 months. He hitchhiked to NYC, then worked on a freighter for passage to Europe. He studied in Paris for six months, and while there witnessed the May 1968 student protests and nationwide strike. While hitching through Europe, he was in Prague during the invasion by the Soviet Union. Upon returning to California, he studied at UCSD (MS, Mathematics, 1971). He was admitted to the first class of the UC Berkeley-UCSF Joint Medical Program (MD, 1972-1976). After an MPH degree UC Berkeley (Biostatistics 1977), he did Internal Medicine (UCLA, 1977-1980, FACP), an NIH Clinical Pharmacology research fellowship (UCSF, 1980-81) and Dermatology (UC Irvine, 1981-1984, FAAD), American Board of Cosmetic Surgery certification (1989), and subspecialty board certification in Mohs surgery (2021). He is a clinical professor of Dermatology at UC Irvine. At work he directs his dermatology practice, as well as HK Surgical, Inc., and his own randomized clinical trials. At home he is directed by Kathleen Hutton-Klein, MD (dermatologist) and their five children.

Hope Timberlake is a speaker, workshop facilitator, and author of the book Speak Up, Dammit! How to Quiet Your Fears, Polish Your Presence, and Share Your Voice.
