Helpful points for preparing your submission:

The nomination form will be evaluated and the recipient selected solely on the content of this form, so please be clear, concise and very specific when providing examples to each question. Provide quantitative data wherever possible to demonstrate impact and results.

Do not hide 'gems of excellence' in lengthy sentences; give many specific examples stating the situation or challenge, what they did and the what the result was - consider Problem – Action – Result – format used in Behavioural based interviews.

All nominees are excellent HR professionals but you have to demonstrate how the nominee went above and beyond normal expectations and therefore is deserving of an award.
