CPRA is pleased to share our successes from the last year with our members and partners. In 2017, CPRA membership has increased, we have offered more professional development and scholarship opportunities and our financial health is the best it has ever been!

What’s next on the CPRA horizon? Take a look at the 2018 Strategic Plan to learn more about where YOUR Association is headed.

A Special Thanks to our Leadership!

CPRA Mission

_The Colorado Parks and Recreation Association promotes the parks and recreation profession and its growth throughout the state of Colorado._
CPRA’s Annual Budget has benefited from an increase in membership dues allowing for investments in popular member benefits such as the career center and increased communications. In 2016, we celebrated an end-of-year net of $54K that the CPRA Board invested in a short-term reserve account to support operations and goals related to the new 2018 CPRA Strategic Plan.

CPRA’s Enhanced Member Benefits in 2017 were in part due to new strategic partnerships allowing us to increase our capacity and enhanced fiscal health allowing CPRA to invest in greater member benefits such as the Social Link networking platform and new virtual meetings to connect members across the state. The CPRA Annual Conference sold out for the 3rd year in a row and there has been a measurable increase in support for Association events.

CPRA’s Industry Partners play an important role in our Association’s success in addition to providing our members with goods and services they need to serve Colorado communities. We are proud to work with such a diverse group of industry professionals!
