National Syndromic Surveillance Program Community of Practice Advancing the Science and Practice of Syndromic Surveillance

CSTE to Facilitate NSSP Community of Practice

The Council of State and Territorial Epidemiologists (CSTE) has been selected by CDC to facilitate the National Syndromic Surveillance Program Community of Practice (NSSP CoP) through the Center for State, Tribal, Local, and Territorial Support (CSELS) National Partnership Cooperative Agreement. As the professional home for applied epidemiologists, CSTE is excited to engage and provide support to the syndromic surveillance community.

Starting November 1, 2019, CSTE will be providing administrative support for NSSP CoP-related calls and other syndromic surveillance activities. CSTE and CDC NSSP meet regularly to coordinate transition of NSSP CoP activities.

If you have any questions regarding the transition of activities, or are interested in joining the community and/or its related groups, please email syndromic@cste.org.

What is the NSSP Community of Practice?

The National Syndromic Surveillance Program's Community of Practice (NSSP CoP) promotes knowledge sharing, training, innovation, and timely exchange of syndromic surveillance data among state and local public health agencies and partners. Membership in the NSSP CoP includes state, local and federal public health practitioners with responsibilities for syndromic surveillance in their organizations, nonprofit and for-profit organizations, health care and academia.

Membership

While CSTE is a member-based organization, involvement in the NSSP CoP and its related groups (described below) is voluntary, free of charge, independent of CSTE membership, and open to any person or organization interested in advancing syndromic surveillance. If are interested in joining the community and/or its related groups, please email syndromic@cste.org.

The NSSP CoP is supported by Cooperative Agreement # 6NU380T000297-02-01 between the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the Council of State and Territorial Epidemiologists. Its contents are solely the responsibility of the authors and do not necessarily represent the official views of CDC.
