51% of parents note a desire to know more about apps or software that could help their child with learning at home.
—Project Tomorrow Speak Up Report, 2016
1 out of every 3 children in America enters kindergarten without the requisite skills for success in reading.

BookFlix® is a highly engaging literacy-based read-aloud experience for young children learning to read. The thematically-aligned fiction and nonfiction pairs help children grow their oral vocabulary while providing academic and content vocabulary in context. BookFlix:

• Encourages independent listening and reading practice
• Builds knowledge and encourages developmental concepts, ideas, and information
• Supports reading comprehension and oral language gains
• Teaches beginning readers to differentiate fiction from nonfiction
• Strengthens fluency, multi-media literacy, and cross-textual comparison

BookFlix in the Library

• Use to enhance storytime in the library
• Use for independent reading time
• Use for family literacy programs

More than 135 pairs of fun, early learning concepts and topics
