President's Message

Nancy VAZAC Jackson, '70, Ed.D, RN

I grew up in a small rural community in upstate New York before coming to Columbia University School of Nursing. Several times each year my family would drive to the Bronx to visit one set of grandparents. I recall riding along some streets with block after block of attached red brick houses that all looked alike to me, and thinking to myself, "How do people who live here find their way home? All these houses look alike!"

At the CUPHSONAA office we continue to receive letters from alumni asking which organization we are – the old or the new. It seems we look alike....

We are the original Alumni Association, started by our wise and foresighted predecessors to support the school and its alumni. We began in 1892 as indicated on our seal, and we are incorporated by the State of New York, hence the name CUPHSONAA, Inc.

For over 105 years this arrangement worked well, and our energetic, active alumni group was the envy of other Schools of Nursing. In the mid 1990's, shortly after our organization donated $1,000,000 for an endowed Alumni chair and another $250,000 toward the Pharmaceutical Chair, the current Dean decided to form another Alumni Association. She was unhappy with CUPHSONAA, Inc.'s unwillingness to allow her more control over this Association. The Board at the time feared that a change in the relationship would irreparably alter the work of our association, with its unique mission to support the alumni and the School. Efforts at reconciliation have not been successful, in spite of numerous attempts over the last 10 years. However, we are willing to try again should the Dean and School take a more egalitarian posture in future discussions.

The Dean's new association has had multiple name changes, reunion revisions, publication and now website changes, all designed to look more like the original association. Imitation may be the highest form of flattery, but it has its drawbacks.

It can make two organizations look alike and makes it harder for alumni know to whom they are contributing or which reunion to attend. We find this tactic unsettling as it continues to confuse all alumni and casts a shadow of doubt over us all.

Until the time comes when the two organizations can find a common understanding, please let us help you find your way home. When you see the word "original" and the "Inc." and the Seal with the date 1892 on it, you are home. Here at CUPHSONAA, Inc we continue the good work of giving scholarships and research grants to Columbia alumni, recognizing distinguished alumni, providing sick and pension benefits to members who qualify and are enjoying a growing membership. We are already planning our 2009 Reunion for Friday April 24, 2009 and cannot wait to see you, Neighbors!

ANNA C. MAXWELL

Almost ninety years ago, Anna C. Maxwell marched herself up to Washington Heights to survey the twenty acres that was originally the American League Baseball Park that its owners, Mrs. Stephen V. and her son Edward S. Harkness were giving to Presbyterian Hospital for their new facility. She was scouting out a suitable home for her nursing students when the hospital moved north. She found the site she liked and Maxwell Hall was one of the first buildings to be completed.

An article in the New York Times in 1928 indicated that:

The Anna C. Maxwell Hall has two levels that of the entrance facing Fort Washington Avenue and that of the lower portions fronting upon Riverside Drive. From the crystal clear water of their swimming pool the student nurses may look directly into the murky stream of the Hudson.

This Maxwell Hall, by the way, is the last word in student housing. Architecturally it is beautiful. In its living quarters there is not only everything needed for health and comfort but every factor of the environment makes for the proper frame of mind in one whose profession will be to take not only skill but hope and cheerfulness and good taste into a sick room.

Each girl has a room to herself and its furniture would make almost any enthusiast for the antique admit that, after all, the reproduction may be just as beautiful as the original. Their dining room, with tables for small congenial groups has similar distinction as to furniture and also an unbroken view of the river and the Palisades. So have their music and recreation rooms and lecture halls.

All of the book studying and some of the instruction will be in Maxwell hall, but the bulk of the work of the student nurses will be, of course, in the wards and laboratories of the hospital. Throughout the three years of her instruction each of these young women is as much a student in training for an art and profession, as she would be in a college of arts and sciences. The training of nurses is one of the newer phases of education, but it has got far beyond that period in which the novitiate was looked upon as part maid service and part student. This new home at the Medical Centre for nurses of the future is recognition of her status.

When completed the building would house 300 students and sixty probationers, they added. There were also faculty apartments, where Anna Maxwell spent the remainder of her years.

We will shortly be celebrating the restoration of the full-length oil painting of our founder by Ellen Emmett Rand. Through a contribution made by CUPHSONAA, Inc. that restoration work has been accomplished and we are awaiting word from Presbyterian Hospital as to its hanging. Ellen Emmet Rand was quite famous, having painted portraits of other noted citizens, including Franklin Delano Roosevelt. ■

THESE ARE HARD TIMES FOR ALL OF US

With the economic downturn and decreased savings or retirement funds, it may be difficult to find extra money to help your "Neighbors."

But consider this – our new survey of pensioners include two individuals who have no Social Security at all. One added that if she didn't live with friends/relatives she would be in the "poor house." Another says that she depends upon her check to "meet her monthly obligations." Yet another has used up all of her savings and now relies on her daughter to support her. Several are receiving Medicaid assistance.

These are sad stories and, if you could view these applications to see the meager amounts of income our fellow alumni have available to try to survive, you would be amazed that they can do so. So few of our alums even ask for assistance as they are very independent and try to manage on their own. So, if you are having a tough time making ends meet, think of these graduates who now have less. Hopefully times will get better, but some do not have the luxury of longevity to wait for that to happen. ■

OUR NEW WEBSITE ...

...will be up and running as of December 1, 2008!

We have designed a new website where alumni can go to find out the latest alumni news, applications for benefits, membership, publications and much more. It will be interactive so that you can email us through the site, www.CUPHSONAA.org

If you would like to contribute news to the website, please forward your notes and photos to the Alumni Office at admin@cuphsonaa.org, call 914-966-3699, or fax 914-966-3693 or send print material to CUPHSONAA, Inc., 6 Xavier Drive, Yonkers NY 10704.

We hope you enjoy it.

Alumni News

Margaret GUNN Kane writes: "I have been married 54 years to same spouse, Walter. Our daughter is a veterinarian of large and small animals in Northwest corner of Connecticut. I retired from public health in 1961 after having served in Alaska and Los Alamos NM."

1942

Lois PERINCHIEF McNulty – "I am well settled and content with my new home and also in fairly good health considering my age. Best wishes to my alumni association – keep up the good work."

Marion HOWALD Swartout writes: "Here is some of the news I have gathered from my class. Everyone I heard from sends their greetings to the rest of the class. Jean LAGAKIS Benner serves on the Homeowners' Board of her complex, on the Design & Review Committee and enjoys cross-stitching and bridge; she has family nearby. Elizabeth SCHOON-MAKER Booth has recovered from both hip and shoulder replacements and hand surgery and is able to ride again. Dorinda BELL Burrows wrote last year that she and her husband are living in the family homestead where he was raised. Dorinda has rather advanced Parkinson's and her husband has moderate Alzheimer's. They are being cared for by two of their children who are living with them and others who come in to help. She sends best wishes to "all the other gals who are hanging in there." Rose BENDOCK Carr is still active and traveling. She was looking forward to a safari in Kenya and Tanzania. Beth MARTENS Craft and her husband are still well but haven't traveled much this year. Alice HAMILTON Davies has been leading a grief fellowship workshop for about 23 people since last May. Annette FITCH Donovan is well, active, doing volunteer work, belongs to a writing group, and enjoys billiards and line dancing. Several of her children live nearby. Barbara TANIS Fetzer healed well from knee replacement last year but developed a pressure sore and infection in her ankle; that, plus arthritis limits her mobility. Jo HAL-LINAN Finan is in the midst of downsizing, preparatory to a move to Texas to be near her daughter. Muffy PEARSON Freeman is well and always seems to be busy. Treatment for macular degeneration has stopped the progress of that problem. Irene HOLTAN Schmidgall – Last Year, Rene and her husband, Ed, were honored for their years of volunteering with the Salvation Army and other organizations and chosen to be Grand Marshals of the Wakefield MA Fourth of July Parade. Twenty-four of their family members, representing four generations, gathered to cheer them from the grandstand. Rene and Ed show no signs of slowing down, and have even added an after-school program to their volunteer efforts. Marion HOWALD Swartout is settled in her retirement community and is busy with church activities, enjoying concerts, water color and music appreciation classes. Her daughter, Cynthia, and her husband live in the same community. Vivi TOTELL Westwick lives next door to her daughter and recently welcomed the birth of her first great-grandchild. She is looking forward to her 90th birthday for which her family is planning a celebration. She would be delighted if some of her classmates were there."

Ruth HIRSCH Silverman: "Went to Honolulu in May to attend the 3rd annual William Silverman lecture during the spring meetings of the Pediatric Academic Societies; the lecture was established after Bill's death in 2004. Many of our class knew Bill when he was a resident at Babies Hospital in 1944-45. My son and his wife flew from Cape Cod to Hawaii to join me at the lecture.

In June, I flew East to attend my daughter Jen's marriage to Bob Follansbee. The wedding was held in New Hampshire in a beautiful setting near North Conway. Jen's daughter Rachel, now 25+ and son Jesse, now 21, were also there. I gained two new step-grandchildren with Bob's son and daughter, Ben and Rachel. After three days of wedding festivities, I went to Wellfleet, on Cape Cod, to spend a week with my son, Dan, and his wife. I had my annual fresh, home cooked lobster "fix" while there

Back home at The Tamalpais in Greenbrae, CA I'm enjoying daily croquet games plus regular Mah Jongg, dominoes, scrabble and monthly book club meetings and book reviews. Can't believe I turned 88 in September. I use a walker on certain days when my balance is really bad, otherwise I try to manage with a cane. Things could be worse... Hear from time to time from Helen Craig Kaffitz from our class."

Mary LISTER Pomeroy – "Sorry I missed the reunion this year but I was in the hospital and hope to make it there next year. As a former faculty member at the School of Nursing we did have wonderful leaders in Dean Margaret Conrad and Helen Pettit. I enjoyed my faculty days in the Pediatric Clinic where I believed that children should not be separated from their mothers when ill. I have since taught in many areas, enjoying rich experiences, even after marrying my dear husband, Edwin, a volunteer in WWII. He succumbed to heart failure four years ago despite two stents and he always enjoyed my pursuit of knowledge. I am now a great grandmother – three little girls. My oldest son, Ryan, served in military intelligence under Colin Powell; Bob, my youngest, a marine in Bagdad, married the former Ambassador to the U.N. from South Korea, and now lives in London; his children attend the American School of London. Another son, Ted, is in finance and our daughter, Barbara Pomeroy Murphy, a former social worker in Newark NJ, is now a mother in Austin TX. I am still in the Nurses Health Study after many years as a volunteer. I enjoy attending Farleigh Dickinson University, church and also volunteer work to preserve open space in New Jersey."

Eleanor STRAUB Stough writes, "Presently our beautiful, passive solar hilltop home is for sale. It's in Burlington WV and was built by our son in 1980-1986 when we left our York PA house following the Three Mile Island accident in 1979. We've now moved to Boonsboro MD."

Connie MCNULTY Ballard – “My husband, Bill, and I have been coming to the Traverse City area of Michigan since the early 60’s. We retired in 1986 and live on beautiful Lake Ann. Helen MILLER Schweinsberg has lived in MI since soon after graduating, and has a lovely summer home on East Bay. Ruth LAMBERT Iezsoni and her husband Don started growing grapes for wines about the same time Bill and I retired. However, it was in 1997 that we finally started getting together a few times each summer. Ruth and Dom started the Bel Lago winery about the same time we all started to get together. It has been great fun to enjoy the fabulous wines and watch the winery grow.

This photo of Helen, Ruth and me was taken on August 22, 2008 at a memorial service for Dr. Dominic Iezsoni, P&S '48 at Bel Lago Winery in Lelanau County. Ruth planned a Flag Raising Ceremony in his honor. It was the military flag he received at his service in New Jersey. The day was perfect and many of the Iezsoni family and friends were present.

The three of us look forward to many more summers of finding neat little places to visit and eat in this beautiful area. Many times we are driven on our excursions by my dear husband who is happy to “drive his ‘Miss Daisies’ around.”

Grace CADWELL Stark – My husband and I have moved to a retirement community. Ginger Cove, our new home is a lovely place in Annapolis. It is near the water and close to our older son and his family. Bob is a Naval Academy graduate and several of his classmates are here so we already have a groups of friends nearby. Before we left Charlottesville, VA I volunteered over 4000 hours at the UVA Medical Center!!! I wonder what I will find in Annapolis!

Virginia ABRAMS Mead – “In my “retirement” I teach decoupage at the Handicraft Club in Providence. It is great fun and we think it keeps the therapist at bay. Dick has retired from private practice in Internal Medicine/Cardiology – a dying breed. He’s busy “opening doors” of many interests for which he had no time. Our older child Carl, wife Marybeth, and grandchildren Max and Haley have moved from NJ to Mission Viejo CA. and we are now a bi-coastal family. Kristin, husband David, and grandchildren Brian and Beatrice live here in Barrington RI. Met with Barbara LONG Cottrell in the spring and saw Barbara LOOK Bull-Edgar in Chatham MA at St. Christopher’s Episcopal Church. Finally, here in RI they initiated CME requirements for licensure. I still maintain my license but don’t practice. One never knows ...”

1961

Maxine FREID Haigh – “My husband Dick passed away in August 2007 after a long struggle.”

Faith HAWLEY Howarth writes, “I definitely feel badly not to have been in touch or made reunions but thought an email might take away some of my guilt!

I am semi-retired and living in Easton MD. My nursing positions after Columbia were all over the place geographically and practice areas. For quite a while I lived in New Jersey where my now retired CPA/CFO husband Ken and I had three children: Kenneth, Scott and Kym. Kenneth is a college professor teaching philosophy, married, lives in NJ and has two step-sons. Scott is with Endoscope (cardiology stent systems) married, lives in Charlotte NC and has a daughter and a son. Kym is with Plasma Protein Therapeutics Assoc., married, lives near us in Maryland and has two daughters and a son (all under 7)! She plans to pursue a MPH degree.

Many years ago I worked as a nurse in public schools. I studied and received a Masters in Education from Rutgers University (while having the youngsters!) We later made a couple of moves and ended up in the Annapolis MD area for over 28 years. During this time, I worked as a compliance/QI/RM & Program Development consultant for health care providers here and there. About 18 years ago, I returned to patient care and, while consulting at Johns Hopkins School of Nursing, fell into a program for a MSN, CRNP certificate. Since graduating I have worked as an Adult NP with Maryland Primary Care Physicians and still do - on call. Johns Hopkins School of Nursing and their Graduate School of Nursing keep me on as clinical faculty. Occasionally, I do some legal nurse consulting work and peer review for primary care.

It’s been quite a journey and is not over yet. I volunteer as a parish nurse in an inner city parish. As a life long learner, it is very rewarding to be studying for a Forensic Nurse Examiner Certificate!! I have been blessed and often recall the challenges and joys of Maxwell Hall, my classmates, the hospital (and VNA in Brooklyn), and the Original Alumni Association. Bless you all, Faith Hawley Howarth.”

Kathy ANDERSON – “Retired from nurse executive position in February and now work part-time as Program Director of Health Care Administration at Marlboro College in Vermont.”

1967

Barbara LOUGH Frye – “We are anticipating a move to Delaware next year to escape the high taxes in New Jersey. Husband David and I are junior church teachers at an inner city church in Pater-son and I continue as a soprano soloist in sacred music after many years with the Metropolitan Operatic Festival & NY Oratorio. Recently attended the wedding of our daughter Tori (Vice-Principal and Director of Education in a private school in Cary NC). Son Chad is an artist with Disney TV. Son Blair is a physical therapist in Indiana and has two sons. Our daughter Megan works for McKinsey Consulting in DC. I left urological nursing 36 years ago to be an “at home” mom, but am thankful for the skills learned, as they have been used constantly in the care of my family and others.”

Helene DeMontreaux Houston – “My husband retired after 37 years in banking in 2006. I continue to work as an advanced practice psychiatric nurse full-time, happily because Whiting has become a gourmet cook. He continues to be very involved in community and church work. My greatest passions (especially this year) are politics, reading, and travel. In the past year we have been to NYC where we have an apartment in Brooklyn Heights, Paris, Rome and London. Our two beautiful red-haired daughters are happily married - one in Skaneateles NY and one in Astoria, Queens. My favorite part of work is the art of psychopharmacology.”

1970

Janet COHEN – “June 1st I retired after almost 25 years in non-nursing related business. I am off to travel the world with my new love!”

1971

Betty CHIN Jung – “I gave a formal presentation at the Connecticut Nurses Association 101st Convention in October 2007 entitled ‘How New Genetic /Genomic Competencies Impact Nursing: Your Profession and Practice – Case Study: Cardiovascular Disease and Genomics.’ Also started serving as Program Director and Principal Investigator of Southern Connecticut State University Public Health Alumni Chapter – Public Health Alumni Surveys Program. Visit my website at www.bettycjung.net. Son, Daniel, married in 2006; he and his wife live in the Seattle WA area and both are engineers for Boeing; daughter, Stephanie, lives in Rockville MA and works for Symantec. Lee continues to practice Internal Medicine in New Haven CT and is an Associate Clinical Professor at Yale University. I still teach as an Adjunct Professor at Southern Connecticut State University and am employed as a Cardiovascular/Diabetes Epidemiologist for the Connecticut Department of Public Health in Hartford, CT.”

OUR 116TH REUNION APRIL 24, 2009 NEW YORK ATHLETIC CLUB

Plans are underway for the upcoming reunion on April 24, 2009 especially for classes with graduations in '59, '64, '69, '74, '79, '84, '89, '94, '99, '04. Alumni who just wish to have an enjoyable day with colleagues and friends in other years are also urged to attend.

This year the reunion will be held at the New York Athletic Club as the Columbia Club is undergoing extensive renovations. A bank of rooms at the NYAC will be reserved and the cost is $200 for singles with full beds; $345 for doubles with king beds and $375 for doubles with two queens. The NYAC is located at 58th and Central Park South and convenient to subways, trains and parking although it is somewhat expensive.

For those coming from a distance, we have also reserved a bank of rooms at the Crown Plaza Hotel in Englewood NJ where the cost before tax is $149 a night. The CU Medical Center uses this facility for housing out of town guests. The Hotel provides service to the City. If there are sufficient numbers, they will do door-to-door service to the NYAC with prior arrangements. They run two vans a day one in the AM and the other in the PM to both Medical Center and mid/downtown at the cost of $20 round trip. A third alternative is the Jersey City Hyatt that is right across from the PATH. Their rates are $225 for two; $250 for three and $275 for four.

If you are planning to stay in any of these facilities we would urge you to make your reservations early. NYC has become a tourist haven and rooms are booked far in advance.

We would also encourage those attending to bring whatever memorabilia you might have that would be interesting to reside in our archives. We will have a scanner there to digitalize your items to add to our holdings.

Over the years, we have found that if classmates contact other classmates it ensures more fun for those who plan to be there, as your friends will be attending as well. So why not take some time, round up those whom you would like to see and join us.

More news about the reunion will be found in the next Newsletter.

Ruth SEASHORE Hryshkanych – “I am married to Michael Hryshkanych and celebrating 34 years of full-time ministry work at Lake Lundgren Bible Camp in the North Woods of Wisconsin. Our two adult children both work at Trinity International University in Illinois. I would love to reconnect with CUPHSON friends. I recently visited Nancy DANE Ruby and keep in touch with a few others.”

1977

Kathryn GALLO Kreger – “I have been a certified school nurse for 12 years. My husband, Paul, worked in the Dining Services Department at Hackensack Hospital. We have two daughters. Danielle will be graduating from The College of New Jersey and is going to be an elementary school teacher. Julie is currently a sophomore at the University of Delaware. ■

WE HAVE LOTS OF THEM

Distinguished Alumni, that is. If you just read class notes you will see the many outstanding graduates of our school in all different fields, locations and interests. Do you know someone who should be nominated for our annual Distinguished Alumni Awards?

If so, please forward the name of the alumnus to us. We need to have the application, three letters of reference and a resume to complete the process. Please submit nominee names to our office no later than February 1.

ANNUAL MEETING

DO YOU VOLUNTEER?

Over the years, many have written updates of their activities – family, professional activities and types of volunteering they have been and are doing. The Board has been impressed with the number of alumni who give significant time and energy for one cause or another, not necessarily within nursing.

The governmental push toward having more people volunteer has filtered as far down as the high school level recently. Indeed, the Columbia University School of Engineering now requires a certain number of volunteer hours for graduation.

We would like to document the contributions of our alumni to determine not only the types of volunteerism and activities and but also the amount of time given. We suspect the total number of person hours would be enormous!

By compiling your activities we could demonstrate that volunteering can continue through one’s lifetime and in a wide variety of activities. Lets give younger people a good example by showing them that older generations are generous with their time and talents.

Of course, there are the incidental acts of volunteering that most of us do – caring for our own families, helping neighbors with figuring out health care issues, helping in neighborhood emergencies and the like. To enumerate these would take volumes.

We would like you to respond to a survey, either by detailing your work in an email or by mailing it to the office.

It would be inspiring and fun to see the great contribution our CUPH grads have made for the betterment of society.

We would like to share the results with you in a future Newsletter.

Won’t you please take a few minutes, to complete the form below.

Thank you!
