LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

SDPA President | Joleen M. Volz

This publication is dedicated to our upcoming fall conference in Orlando, Florida. Within you’ll find the complete program guide as well as things to do while visiting Orlando, helpful tips, and much more! Conferences are a great opportunity to get to know your fellow dermatology PAs, not to mention get the most up to date clinical information for your practice. I’m looking forward to seeing you all in just a couple of weeks.

With the fall conference just weeks away, it is hard for me to believe this will be my 15th fall conference since I first started attending in 2003. The SDPA made such an impression on me that I have not missed a fall conference ever since. Time has really flown by, but I can’t imagine my life, or my career, without the SDPA. The leadership experience I have gained, and the education afforded to me have helped me grow both professionally and personally to be the best dermatology PA I can be. It’s that superior education that will be on full display November 1 – 4 at our fall conference in Orlando. With leading educators presenting the latest dermatologic hot topics, pearls, techniques, and education, this conference is a must-attend for any PA in the field of dermatology. But, as an attendee, you won’t just gain CME, you’ll begin to develop relationships that will last a lifetime. Some of my best friends are colleagues that I have met while attending SDPA conferences.

Of course, my attendance led me down the path of volunteering – initially as a liaison to the president, Dan Hickey, and then progressed into leadership positions as constituent relations committee chair before being joining the Board of Directors as Secretary/Continued on next page...
Treasurer and now proudly serving as your President. Giving back to this society that I love and respect allows me to help shape the future of the profession I’ve dedicated my career to. Now, more than ever, we all need to give to this profession.

We talked about the threats to the dermatology PA profession for some time. But, it bears repeating. The SDPA stands with the AAPA in promoting and advocating for PAs and the concept of Optimal Team Practice (OTP). It is also easily accessible here. While you are in Orlando, come talk to any of the leaders – we are here to answer your questions and help get you involved and informed.

Our conferences are not just about CME – we also have plenty of events to help you unwind and get to know your fellow conference attendees. We have several exciting events planned. Wednesday evening kicks off with our family-friendly Halloween themed arrival reception (bring your costumes!) on October 31. We continue the fun with an incredible welcome event at The Wizarding World of Harry Potter™ – Hogsmeade™ at Universal’s Islands of Adventure™ theme park Thursday night and VIP reception at The Blue Man Group show Friday night. We end with a fun farewell reception on Saturday evening that allows us to mingle with our colleagues and industry sponsors one last time before departing.

Looking forward to seeing you soon!

This year marks the Dermatology PA Foundation’s (DPAF) third year since we launched as an extension of the SDPA’s philanthropic efforts.

This year marks the Dermatology PA Foundation’s (DPAF) third year since we launched as an extension of the SDPA’s philanthropic efforts. Over the past three years, we have made great strides in fulfilling the pillars set forth by our founding trustees in research, education, and philanthropy. None of this would be possible without the contributions of both our individual and corporate donors and we are incredibly thankful for your ongoing support.

During the SDPA’s summer conference in Seattle, we hosted the DPAF’s annual charitable run/walk/sleep-in. Each year we choose a patient advocacy group or project to support with our event. In the past we have supported the Melanoma Research Foundation and National Alopecia Areata Foundation. This year, the DPAF selected the Hidradenitis Suppurativa Foundation as the beneficiary of our 5K run/walk/sleep in and were thrilled to have over 50 SDPA members, industry supporters, and family members attend our early morning jaunt along the beautiful Elliot Bay in Seattle. Many others who weren’t able to be present contributed to make the event a success. We raised nearly $4000 in donations for the HS Foundation via race registration, additional donations, and a generous sponsorship from Abbvie. The DPAF Board of Trustees voted unanimously to match those donations, bringing the total contribution to the HS Foundation to over $7600.

Our philanthropic efforts shined last year following the devastation hurricanes Harvey, Irma, and Maria brought to Texas, south Florida, Puerto Rico and the surrounding islands. The DPAF led a donation drive that generated $10,000 in donations in just 2 weeks from SDPA members and supporters. The DPAF and SDPA each also donated $5000, for a total $20,000 donation to Americares from the dermatology PA community. Americares serves to prepare for and respond to natural disasters. They donated over $40 million in medicine and supplies to communities so badly affected in Puerto Rico, Dominica, and the Virgin Islands last year. While we were incredibly saddened by the cancellation of the SDPA conference slated for San Juan, we couldn’t be more proud of the way we pulled together to support those in need.

The DPAF has also set our sights on ramping up our role in education and research for and by dermatology PAs. In the summer of 2017, we conducted a clinical research panel at the SDPA’s summer conference in San Diego to provide useful tips on how to get started in the research arena. We recently launched a research task force to further our goals in leading research initiatives reflecting on the positive impact PAs have in dermatology and supporting PA led research projects. Look for information in the near future on how you can get involved or become a recipient of a research grant!

Our educational projects have continued to expand with the addition of sponsored sessions both onsite at SDPA conferences and remotely recorded sessions. In November of 2017, we recorded a session on Mental Health Comorbidities in Psoriasis, and hosted another sponsored session on psoriasis at the 2018 SDPA summer conference in Seattle. Our special session for Orlando covers atopic dermatitis pathophysiology, new information on comorbidities, and current and emerging state of the art treatment options. We hope you have had the opportunity to join us for one of these sessions, or catch them on the SDPA learning center, both of which are free to SDPA members.

This weekend also marks our 3rd annual silent auction to benefit Camp Wonder. Funds raised from the auction are used to sponsor children with severe skin disease for a week-long camp in California designed especially for children just like them. They take part in typical summer camp activities, along with special events, such as prom, that they may otherwise avoid due to the severity of their skin disease. Each year, we aim to help send 10 children to Camp Wonder, and also sponsor travel accommodations for 2 PAs to attend as volunteers. Take a look at the many items we have available, or consider making a donation for this great cause!

As we move into the end another exciting year, I would again like to thank our donors who have made the launch of the DPAF a success, and encourage those who have yet to make a contribution to consider doing so. Even a small donation from each SDPA member would make a significant impact on our ability to continue fulfilling the vision set forth for the DPAF and broaden our impact on the dermatology community.

Sincerely,

Jennifer M. Conner, MPAS, PA-C
