SDPA: A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Greetings Colleagues,

Recently, the NCCPA proposed a new model for the PANRE that would drastically change the way you and I maintain our certification. If you haven’t heard about this proposed change, I encourage you to become engaged in this discussion. The format currently favored by NCCPA would require PAs to ‘periodically’ take at home exams covering “a broad range of organ systems and task and skill areas.” In the final years of the ten-year cycle, each PA would take a timed exam in a testing center on one of 10-12 specialty exams selected by the PA. If a PA scores in the ‘exceptional’ range on the specialty exam, he/she would qualify for a Certificate of Added Qualification.

This model poses a number of concerns to me as a practicing PA. I already spend a great deal of time and financial resources maintaining my required one hundred hours of CME during every two-year cycle. This is in addition to the time, money, and energy that go into preparing for a recertification exam every six years, now transitioning to every ten years. We also have new CME requirements of forty hours of Self Assessment and forty hours of Performance Improvement CME over the first eight years of the new ten-year cycle. Finally, the actual cost to PAs of this new model of recertification has not been determined.

The SDPA has written a letter to the NCCPA asking them to not make additional changes to the recertification model while PAs adjust to the new ten-year cycle and the new Self Assessment and Performance Improvement CME requirements. The SDPA is also concerned that more testing will increase both the cost and the time that individual PAs spend on recertification.

The NCCPA is right to point out that for forty years they have served the profession as our certification body. While that certification exists to serve the interests of patients and the public in providing confidence in the skills of individual PAs,

You’re a successful PA, you provide essential care to patients every day. The PANRE doesn’t have to be a challenge – it shouldn’t be. And it won’t be with CME4LIFE PANRE review. Our physician assistant board review uses a unique learning method called “Active Engagement Learning” that was developed by CME4LIFE Owner John Bielinski, Jr. to help you learn and recall key information more effectively.

CME4life will offer SDPA members $100 off the cost of any conference registration and 15% off any enduring CME material that can be found on CME4life.com* Use the coupon code “SDPA.”

*Discount of $100 on conferences cannot be combined with early bird discount. 15% discount on enduring CME material is only on the material and does not discount “extras” including iPads and gift cards.
The SDPA Diplomate Fellowship

As you know, the SDPA’s Distance Learning Initiative (DLI) was formally retired on March 15th. The SDPA launched the DLI in 2008 to serve as an online training tool for the dermatology PA community. As the DLI looked ahead to its 8th birthday, it was time to consider updating the content to serve an ever growing population of dermatology PAs and advancing medical knowledge.

Early this year, the SDPA took the first steps towards building that new program to be called the Diplomate Fellowship. The first task was to gather together 10 PA subject matter experts to develop an underlying core curriculum. Under the guidance of a professional facilitator, SDPA experts spent three days building an extensive curriculum chart upon which the future program will be based. This curriculum encompasses the baseline knowledge, skills, and abilities needed by all dermatology PAs in their day-to-day practice. Included in this core knowledge base are all the duties, tasks, skills, tools, equipment, and resources dermatology PAs would need to advance their expertise and in turn, patient care.

Our experts worked within the framework of a few underlying goals: (1) to offer SDPA Fellow members a new training program which supports and enhances PA knowledge in the entire field of dermatology; (2) To base the curriculum on nationally known source(s) or established review program(s); (3) To attain national accreditation of the program and ensure its recognition as the premier dermatology PA training program by both PAs and supervising dermatologists; (4) To build a program which allows SDPA members to advance patient care and their personal careers.

During its 8 year lifespan the SDPA is proud to say that more than 390 Fellow members completed the DLI and were awarded the prestigious title of SDPA Diplomate. The new Diplomate Fellowship is underway and details will be released at various phases of the program's development. Stay tuned for ways to participate and further details throughout the year! Once released, we look forward to advancing, educating, and empowering hundreds more Fellow members and welcoming them to the ranks as SDPA Diplomates.

The SDPA Distance Learning Committee
The Dermatology PA Foundation (DPAF) was proud to partner for the first time with the Melanoma Research Foundation (MRF) for its fourth Miles for Melanoma 5K Run/Walk (and the inaugural race in Orlando) during the SDPA’s Annual Fall Dermatology Conference this past November. The race was a huge success with nearly $23,000 raised in total, $5,000 of which was raised by our very own SDPA members. There were 90 participants from the SDPA (members, family, and friends) who took part in the race or donated to the MRF.

The MRF serves to educate patients and healthcare providers about the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of melanoma and plays an important role in supporting ongoing research for melanoma treatment options in hopes of an eventual cure. The DPAF Board of Trustees and your SDPA Board of Directors once again extend our thanks to those who participated or volunteered to make this another successful event. Dedication to our partnership with the MRF will continue to increase public awareness of melanoma and the important role PAs play in early detection and treatment of our patients with melanoma.

Congratulations to our top male finisher, Ron Ritter, and top female finisher, Chelsea Barr, who quickly raced through the scenic Loews Portofino Bay Hotel/Universal Orlando course. In addition, a big thank you to Amy Jones, who was the top fundraiser for the SDPA and to Sand Lake Dermatology Center, who was the top fundraising team. Your DPAF is hard at work preparing for the next race at our fall 2016 conference in Las Vegas and we hope to see you there! We always welcome volunteers to help with our philanthropic endeavors, so don’t hesitate to contact us at dpaf@dermpafoundation.org to get involved.

Arizona

The Arizona Dermatology Physician Assistants Society (ADPAS) invites you to join our group. If you have any lecture topics you would like to see at our meetings or have a great case that you would like to present please email and let us know: kenanarkawi@azdermpa.org. Please visit our website for additional information - www.azdermpa.org.

California

The California Dermatology PA Society (CDPAS) was formed to answer a growing number of requests by dermatology PAs and other interested affiliates, for a state organization. Our mission is to provide local CME that enhances the skills, knowledge, and function of its members in the practice of dermatology, as well as to provide a forum for communication, to build collegial relationships, and advance the utilization and team concept of PAs in the practice of dermatology. We plan to offer a variety of programs that serve community members of every age and background.

The CDPAS is building its membership currently; application and information is available at http://cdpas.org/. Please feel free to get involved, contact caldpa@gmail.com.

Colorado

Colorado Society of Dermatology Professionals (CSDP) invites you to join our group - please visit www.coloradosdp.org. We meet every quarter to regroup, have educational lectures, and continue to promote excellence in the field of dermatology.

Florida

The Florida Society of Dermatology Physician Assistants (FSDPA) looks forward to growing and continuing to promote the dermatology PA profession. 2016 New Wave Dermatology educational symposium was a great success this year! Ongoing regular events include journal clubs and first Friday pearls. Visit our website of www.fsdpa.org for more information on the surgical workshop and other upcoming events.

Georgia

The Georgia Dermatology Physician Assistants (GDPA) once again supported the Melanoma Research Foundation by participating in the 3rd Annual Atlanta Miles for Melanoma 5k Run/Walk on October 17, 2015. We had 19 member participants and raised a total of $1,575 for melanoma research. The top two female finishers of the 5K were also GDPA members!

In honor of our dedicated supervising physicians, the GDPA members hosted a dinner in their honor and made a donation of $500 in their names to Camp Wonder, a summer camp for children with chronic dermatologic conditions.

Our Fall PEARLS CME conference was a great success and the Spring Conference is fast approaching. Due to growing attendance, the conference will be moving to the Westin Buckhead and take place March 31st-April 2nd 2016.

To register, please visit: http://www.gadermpa.org/dermatology-pearls-conference

The GDPA continues to hold monthly CME dinner programs in the Greater Atlanta Area. To join our state organization or to receive information on our monthly dinner meetings please visit our website: www.gadermpa.com

Idaho

The Illinois Society of Dermatology Physician Assistants (ISDPA) is committed to expanding ISDPA by providing educational opportunities of the highest quality for our members and is focused on forging new relationships within the academic community for dermatology PAs.

The ISDPA will also be hosting the 3rd annual Midwest Dermatology Conference August 11 - 13, 2016 at the Millennium Knickerbocker Hotel in downtown Chicago. Over 20 Category I CME’s will be available. More information about the conference can be found on our website. All dermatology PAs and medical professionals are invited to attend. ISDPA Members receive a special discount (sign up today - we offer Fellow membership, Associate membership, and Student membership. The first year of membership is free for all membership levels).

The ISDPA recently update our website, which can now be found under either domain www.illinoisdermpa.org or www.isdpa.com. Please visit our website for updates on our CME events, other upcoming events, and job opportunities.

Maryland
The Maryland Association of Dermatology Physician Assistants’ (MADPA) mission is to promote the professional and personal development of PAs who specialize, or have an interest in the field of dermatology. If you live in Maryland or the DC area and are interested in joining or want to learn more, please contact MADPA President, Esther Cohen, PA-C, at cohen.esther27@gmail.com.

Michigan
The Michigan Dermatology Physician Assistants (MDPA) would like you to save the date for the MIDPA 2016 conference: Saturday April 16, 2016 at the Somerset Inn in Troy, MI. If you are interested in joining the MIDPA or want to learn more about this upcoming event, please contact Sara Wilkowski at michdpa@gmail.com.

Missouri
The Missouri Society of Dermatology Physician Assistants (MODPA) is currently a small group based out of Saint Louis. Those PAs working in dermatology and living in the state of Missouri are encouraged to join. For additional information, please email Scott Maury, PA-C at skmdermopa25@att.net.

Nevada (Southern)
If you are interested in joining the Southern Nevada Society of Dermatology Physician Assistants or want to learn more about our upcoming events, please contact: isaacgier@gmail.com.

New Jersey
The New Jersey Dermatology Physician Assistants (NJDPA) invites those PAs working in dermatology and living in the state of New Jersey to join us. For additional information, interested members can check out our website at NJdermPA.org or email David Davidson, MS, PA-C at dsdavidson@hotmail.com (please put “Derm PA” in subject line).

New York
The New York State Society of Dermatology Physician Assistants (NYS-DPA) is proud to continue our efforts to promote our role as dedicated PAs in the field of dermatology. The NYS-DPA continues to offer innovative CME lectures and future educational programs are in the works. Information on all upcoming events can be found at www.nysdpa.com. Please note that new members can join us online as well.

Ohio
The Ohio Society of Dermatology Physician Assistants (OSDPA) welcomes you to check out our website at www.ohdermpa.org for monthly event updates. If you are not receiving our emails and would like monthly updates please e-mail evillanueva@ohdermpa.org.

Pennsylvania
The Pennsylvania Dermatology Physician Assistant (PDPA) welcomes both PDPA members and non-members to come and join us at our scheduled PDPA events.

The PDPA continues its PA Speaker Program of lectures scheduled throughout the calendar year, in place of the scheduled journal club dates, given by PAs who are members of the PDPA on various dermatology topics. The intent of the program is to support our members and colleagues in providing educational lectures at meetings and events. Each speaker is responsible for presenting a 50 minute powerpoint presentation on any dermatology topic of their choice, allowing ten minutes for questions at the conclusion of their lecture. There will be an honorarium and CME Category I credit will be available to attendees. Dinner and cocktails will be provided. Anyone interested in becoming a lecturer, please contact the PDPA at president@padermpa.org. Please visit About the PA Speaker Program on the PDPA website for more information and details about the program.

Come visit The PDPA Daily, the daily newsletter for the PDPA to get the most updated information on what's happening in the field of dermatology. Visit padermpa.org and click on The PDPA Daily to subscribe today! And don’t forget to follow us on Twitter at PDPA@padermpa.org.

South Carolina
The South Carolina Society of Dermatology Physician Assistants (SCS-DPA) is a CME category I provider; stay tuned for CME programs coming in the 2016 year. As always, we are seeing a strong influx of PAs interested in dermatology positions, and membership in the SCSDPA. Visitors are welcome to visit our website www.scsdermpa.org or our budding facebook page www.facebook.com/SCSDPA.

Washington
If anyone is interested in forming an SDPA State Affiliate chapter for Washington, please contact the SDPA State Liaison: Jennifer Winter, PA-C 304 West Bay Dr NW, #301 Olympia, WA 98502 360 870-7921 cell jwinter@dermpa.org
UPDATE YOUR INFORMATION TODAY

If you are on the Board of Directors for your state affiliate of the SDPA, please ensure that Renata Block, MMS, PA-C, SDPA Constituent Relations Committee Chair (rblock@dermpa.org) has your current contact information.

Would you like to represent your state for the SDPA but feel overwhelmed by the process of becoming an SDPA State Affiliate? Here is your chance! If you reside in a state that currently does not have an SDPA State Affiliate chapter, consider volunteering to be an SDPA State Liaison. The SDPA Constituent Relations Committee is seeking volunteers to become an SDPA State Liaison and work with the SDPA to eventually organize your state into an official SDPA State Affiliate chapter.

The SDPA currently has 17 State Affiliate chapters. We continue to grow and would love to have all 50 states participating! By volunteering to become an SDPA State Liaison, you can assist the SDPA in reaching this goal. It takes teamwork and a strong commitment. Included here is a list of the SDPA State Liaison duties and expectations. If you have any further questions or are interested in volunteering, please contact Renata Block, MMS, PA-C, SDPA Constituent Relations Committee Chair at rblock@dermpa.org. We are here to help you!

SDPA State Liaison for a Non-Affiliated State: Duties & Expectations

An SDPA State Liaison’s purpose is to represent the state in which the Liaison resides in. The State Liaison will be responsible for facilitating the communication and coordination of his/her state’s activities between the two organizations (state and SDPA). The goal of an SDPA State Liaison is to achieve the best utilization of resources and services from one organization to another.

The following are the duties and expectations for an SDPA State Liaison:

1. Represent his/her state for a period of two years starting with the July 1st term.*
2. Responsible for sharing vital information within the state he/she resides in with the SDPA.
3. Request to send information and/or post to the SDPA website (with SDPA Board approval), in regards to his/her state’s legislative issues, local events, and/or important information that dermatology PAs need to know within the state.
4. Maintain active membership within his/her AAPA State Chapter and be in communication with the AAPA State Chapter to inform the SDPA of any information that is deemed necessary.
5. Communicate with the dermatologists in his/her state through the dermatologists’ state organization.
6. Have fun with his/her mission!

The SDPA State Liaison’s name and email address will be listed on the SDPA Map via the SDPA website and he/she will be a member of the SDPA Constituent Relations Committee.

Go Green - Read Online

In a continual effort to reduce our impact on the environment and to minimize membership dues, the SDPA has elected to provide the quarterly newsletter to its members in an all-electronic format.

If a printed copy is needed, feel free to print a copy from your computer. Formal reprints can be provided on an as needed basis by contacting the SDPA at sdpa@dermpa.org.
It is that time of year again!

This will be another exciting year for the SDPA with the Annual SDPA State Affiliate Award to be passed along to the state that shows it has what it takes to be a stellar advocate for the dermatology PA profession. Georgia was the proud recipient in 2015! Could it be your state this year?

Tell us why your state is deserving of this award. Please use the following link to electronically submit your form to the SDPA (submission guidelines are available at the same link) https://dermpa.site-ym.com/page/Affiliate_Award_Form.

To be considered, submissions are due by March 31st. Voting by the SDPA BOD and Committee Chairs will take place in April 2016. Who will it be for 2016? We will find out at the Annual SDPA Summer Dermatology Conference in Austin, TX.

Good luck!

To the NCCPA Board of Directors:

In response to the NCCPA’s proposed model for a new PANRE, the SDPA respectfully submits the following official response and comments to the NCCPA Board of Directors.

The NCCPA’s new proposed PANRE model presents some concerns to our organization and the constituent PAs who are representative members of our organization.

1. The SDPA supports a recertification model that is ‘evidence based’ for PAs. Based upon the cited resources provided by NCCPA to support the proposed PANRE model, the SDPA Board of Directors finds it lacking in supporting evidence that more frequent testing of ‘core medical knowledge’ will result in better patient outcomes. In fact, the evidence in the cited resources shows instead that interactive learning has value. This would support a model that did not require testing and remedial CME but rather a ‘self assessment’ or ‘case based’ approach to recertification that would provide immediate feedback to the PA. Many physician groups are currently transitioning or exploring models for maintenance of certification that move away from testing and the SDPA would encourage NCCPA to do the same.

2. Consideration of the proposed PANRE model is coming during a precarious time for many PAs who are currently still transitioning into the new CME requirements of the ten-year cycle. Even if the new model were to be implemented five years from now, asking PAs who do not yet fully grasp the current requirements to assess yet another change is ill timed and confusing to those who hold NCCPA certification.

3. The NCCPA has stated that this model does not in any way pose an expansion of Certificates of Added Qualification (CAQ). The SDPA finds this statement to be untrue and disingenuous. Currently the NCCPA offers 7 CAQs but has also stated that those who take one of the 10-12 specialty exams could elect to receive a CAQ if they score high enough on the specialty exam. This demonstrates an increase of 3-5 additional CAQs that would in fact be offered to virtually all those who score in the higher range. The SDPA has stated in the past and continues to assert in alignment with AAPA that CAQs have no place in PA certification.

4. One of the stated intentions and benefits of this model is to provide a more relevant timed testing for PAs in specialties. In reality, PAs in subspecialties not represented by the 10-12 specialty exams will continue to be subjected to exams that do not represent their area of clinical practice.

5. The SDPA also asserts the statement put forth by NCCPA that “there is evidence that conventional, didactic CME that is not interactive has little to no impact on patient outcomes or improvements in practice behaviors” contradicts the proposed model for remediation for not scoring within a defined level by requiring those PAs to complete CME rather than retesting. If this is indeed the case, how does this protect the safety of patients and improve patient outcomes?

6. The SDPA also maintains that it is the responsibility of NCCPA to provide a reasonable cost estimate to certified PAs so that the cost of the proposed model could be evaluated before deciding on moving forward with any new model of recertification.

7. Similarly, the SDPA contends that the time requirements for this new model of maintenance of certification should be evaluated and determined prior to moving forward with any new model.

Finally, we would like to point out the survey sent forth by NCCPA on February 10, 2016 was flawed in that it only allowed PAs to evaluate the current model of PANRE as compared to the proposed model of PANRE. It also did not represent an open-ended survey but rather was designed in such a manner as to ‘steer’ those taking the survey to a foregone conclusion that the NCCPA’s proposed new PANRE model was superior. This does not represent the best of practices. If the NCCPA is genuinely interested in determining what certified PAs want in a new recertification model, we would encourage a more comprehensive and inclusive process.

Respectfully Yours,

A. Matthew Brunner, MHS, PA-C
SDPA President

Important Legislative Action Alert!

The SDPA continues to support the efforts to ban all minors under the age of 18 from indoor tanning devices. Recently, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) proposed to ban indoor tanning devices for all minors and to require those who are 18 years and older to sign a risk acknowledgement certification stating they have been informed of the risks that may result from using these products.

The AAD also strongly supports this FDA proposal. You can find more information about the AAD’s support of this proposal at: American Academy of Dermatology commends FDA for proposing an age restriction for indoor tanning.

If you have questions, please contact SDPA Legislative Affairs Committee Chair Marc Kawohl, PA-C at mkawohl@dermpa.org.

Sincerely,
SDPA Legislative Affairs Committee

Thanks for your support!

AN IMPORTANT UPDATE FROM THE AAPA & SDPA

In an effort to keep you informed on the NCCPA’s proposed model for a new PANRE, the SDPA has been working with the AAPA to make sure our members have the most current knowledge available to help them evaluate the proposed model. Below are a few resources to aid you, as well as a few highlights from the AAPA’s resources.

AAPA has launched a dedicated news page to the NCCPA’s proposed PANRE.

The AAPA has performed “A Review of the Literature Cited by the NCCPA to Support the Proposed Changes to the PA Recertification Exam System.” The conclusion of the AAPA study shows that ‘the literature cited by NCCPA does not support changes it proposes to make in PA recertification requirements.’ In addition, we would like to point out the conflicting nature of the NCCPA’s message in that they have told AAPA that ‘CME does not work’ but then NCCPA also states that those who fail to score well enough on interval ‘core medical knowledge’ exams will be allowed to remediate through additional directed CME.

Finally, AAPA also asked an independent researcher with a PhD in survey design to evaluate the NCCPA’s survey on the proposed PANRE model changes sent to certified PAs this past week. “An Assessment of the NCCPA Survey Gathering Feedback from Certified PAs on the Proposed New Recertification Model” finds that ‘the survey instrument itself is problematic.’ The evaluator found that by presenting all of the “positive arguments” for the proposed PANRE model and then asking questions about the proposal; ‘the survey doesn’t present any of the potential objections.’ Furthermore, the researcher found that ‘the questions are generally structured to elicit favorable responses.’

The SDPA and AAPA encourage all PAs to provide comments, concerns and feedback to NCCPA and to share your views with other PAs. We also ask you to submit your comments and concerns to NCCPA via email newpanre@nccpa.net and to copy AAPA at recertificationcomments@appa.org.

SDPA at the 74th AAD Annual Meeting

March 4-8, 2016 - Washington, DC

The SDPA Public Education Committee exhibited at the 74th AAD Annual Meeting in Washington, DC from March 4-8, 2016. Once again we were hard at work educating dermatologists about the benefits of adding a dermatology PA to their practice.

We had another very successful exhibit this year. We would like to thank all of the members who volunteered at the booth and those members who took the time to stop by the SDPA booth. If you are interested in volunteering at the SDPA booth next year, please contact SDPA’s Public Education Committee Chair Jennifer Winter, PA-C at jwinter@dermpa.org.

Arrival Reception
– hosted by Taro Pharmaceuticals
The SDPA is holding its Annual Summer Dermatology Conference June 1 – 5, 2016 at the JW Marriott Hotel in Austin, Texas. The SDPA Student Affairs Committee would be honored by your presence and participation at the conference. To help students attend the event, the SDPA is offering 10 free student registrations to the conference ($175 value!). To take advantage of this special offering, send a personal note to the SDPA Student Affairs Committee. Free student registrations are first come first serve. Please visit www.dermpa.org to become an SDPA student member. Sign up for the conference, view the conference program, and make a hotel reservation at www.sdpaconferences.org.

Please join us for applicable learning opportunities through a variety of foundational speakers. Workshops are also available for hands-on skills used in the practice of dermatology. The SDPA Student Affairs Committee will be in full attendance, and we would love to have you there! We encourage you to join us for our committee meeting to see what goes on behind the scenes, and of course for student-only activities! This is a great opportunity to connect with other students who are interested in becoming dermatology PAs, as well as to meet dermatology PAs currently in the workforce.

Please contact Maria Kelly, PA-S2, at mkelly@dermpa.org for your unique conference registration code or if you have any additional questions. Thank you and we look forward to seeing you in Austin!

Calling all PA Students

SDPA Student Affairs Committee Members and fellow PA Students in attendance at the 13th Annual Fall Dermatology Conference in Orlando, Florida in November 2015.

Attention Members!

A New Performance Improvement (PI) CME Program is in Development

In order to help meet the continuing education requirements for our members, the SDPA Distance CME Committee is working on developing a Performance Improvement (PI) CME program that we hope to have available at a reasonable cost to our members in the second half of 2016.

Stay tuned for another great educational opportunity from your SDPA Distance CME Committee. If you are interested in helping to develop this program, please contact Amy Doody, Distance CME Committee Co-Chair at adoody@dermpa.org.
