TALLAHASSEE, FL – Aug. 17, 2015 – Florida Career College received two of the highest honors given to career schools by the Florida Association of Postsecondary Schools and Colleges (FAPSC).

Celeste Blackwell of Florida Career College in West Palm Beach was named the 2015 Career Services Administrator of the Year. She was selected because of her professionalism and commitment to never let down students.

Teshanne Phillip of Florida Career College in Margate was selected the 2015 Gail Benjamin Student Services Administrator of the Year. Her contagious enthusiasm and willingness to go above and beyond for students regarding their financial issues are among the reasons she was selected for the honor. These two campus leaders are part of what makes student success a reality at our schools,” said Curtis Austin, executive director of FAPSC. “We are grateful to their daily dedication to provide students with guidance as they begin their careers.”

The leaders of Florida’s career colleges recently recognized the sector’s outstanding graduate, school, faculty and administrators of the year. The 2015 awards were presented at the association’s annual conference in South Florida.

FAPSC has been the voice of Florida’s career schools since 1956. The association of more than 250 members works on behalf of the more 1,000 licensed private career schools and colleges in Florida that prepare students each year for employment in more than 200 occupational fields by offering degree programs, certification and training.
