Do You Have What It Takes To Be A Successful Entrepreneur?
The Great Resignation experienced during 2021 had many people reevaluate where they are in their life and careers and many chose to shift from employee to entrepreneur. The transition is challenging as one has to handle many aspects of a business and needs resources and partners to succeed.

Please join us in this event to meet two successful women entrepreneurs who brought innovative products to the market. Find out what was their experience like in building a business, and the lessons learned along the way.

Your Well-being Is Your Competitive Advantage – “It Begins With The Gut” – A Conversation with Courageous Wellness

What does gluten have to do with the quality of your spreadsheets?
Finding that afternoon slump increasingly challenging to overcome? Is Brain Fog real? Do my clients know?

Supporting our overall well-being starts with learning how our bodies and minds truly interact. Master this and you’ll wonder why they aren’t teaching personal well-being courses alongside the likes of game theory in business school.

In this session, Aly French & Erica Stein, Certified Integrative Nutrition Health Coaches and Co-hosts of the popular podcast, Courageous Wellness, will help you get to the bottom of how your gut health really impacts your wellbeing, overall productivity, edge, and long-term success. You’ll walk away with practical approaches on how to leverage your wellbeing as a competitive advantage including how to manage gut health and blood sugar to optimize mood, energy levels, hormone balance and enhance your immune system.

Actions for Sustainability in Your Home, Your Workplace, and Your Community

We are proud to present a very knowledgeable panel who will share ways that you can be part of the solution to the ever growing concerns around the impacts of climate change and the unsustainable practices that are ingrained in our daily living. You can be a change agent by learning more about how to act locally to promote sustainability in your home, your workplace and your local community.
Conduct Risk: How Bad Behavior Leads to Corporate Harm

Join the FWA on May 3rd for an engaging panel discussing the threat of financial loss and other corporate harm arising from questionable conduct by employees and business leaders.

Other matters that will be covered include:
- What is Conduct Risk?
- Why It Matters
- What US Regulators say about Conduct Culture
- Challenges to the Business
- The Board and Management's Role in Overseeing Conduct
- Impact of Global Pandemic
- Regulatory and Behavioral Tools

Case studies of Fortune 500 companies and global banks will be shared as well as best practices. We look forward to seeing you then!

WALL STREET EXCHANGE PROGRAM - APPLICATION PERIOD NOW OPEN

The Wall Street Exchange Summer Program (WSE) is a career development program designed to augment the summer internship experience of select qualified rising college seniors. The program consists of a series of weekly events hosted by top financial services firms and focuses on professional and personal development.

“The WSE connected me with new people every session. I appreciated how each session focused on teaching me applicable business skills. My favorite session was a workshop on finding what motivated us and how that could impact our career.” – Kira Schoof, 2021 WSE Program Graduate
The 2022 Wall Street Exchange Program will be primarily virtual with highly interactive and engaging workshops and webinars hosted by our partner firms. If circumstances permit, we plan to hold our graduation ceremony in person in New York City.

Benefits of participation in the WSE include:

- Enhance job search skills through workshops that help you create and leverage your unique professional brand
- Develop leadership techniques and other soft skills necessary to execute a successful job search and succeed in your career
- Build a professional network with fellow program participants and interns and employees from sponsor firms
- Access FWA members who can share professional and personal advice
- Join the FWA for even more networking, skill building, and professional development after the summer and as you embark on your new career.

Have your rising college senior apply today!
