Announcing NPTA’s 2017 PAPER Foundation Scholarship Recipients

CHICAGO – June 21, 2017 – NPTA, the association for the paper distribution industry, is pleased to announce its 2017 Paper and Plastics Education Research (PAPER) Foundation scholarship recipients and recognize the generosity of the companies that made these scholarships possible.

The PAPER Foundation awarded 10 scholarships worth $2,000 each to students enrolled in a four-year college in 2017 and whose parent or grandparent works at an NPTA member company.

Scholarship recipients and the companies with which they are affiliated include:

- Nicole Anderson, Lindsey-Anderson Consulting
- Matthew Campos, Clampitt Paper
- Taylor Flanagan, Mac Papers
- McKenna Heck, Neenah Paper
- Justin Howson, Domtar Canada
- Joshua LaMar, Clampitt Paper
- Frankie Mattson, Neenah Paper
- Imari McKinney, Neenah Paper
- Joshua Peters, Neenah Paper
- Emily Serwin, Steen Macek Paper Co.

“NPTA is proud to support the PAPER Foundation and the Foundation’s scholarship program,” said Bryan White, NPTA’s Executive Vice President. “Our member companies are dedicated to furthering the next generation’s education; this is evident through their support of the PAPER Foundation.”

NPTA congratulates all award winners and thanks everyone who applied. NPTA appreciates the generosity of the following companies that contributed to the scholarship program through dues donations and direct donations.
