

HR Florida State Council President Joins Imperative Conversation Regarding Florida's Workforce

Heather Deyrieux participated in a recent webinar to discuss business owners' challenges in the wake of Florida's re-opening

Tallahassee, Fla. – (July 24, 2020) – HR Florida State Council (HR Florida) President Heather Deyrieux took part in a webinar yesterday titled “The New Landscape of Florida’s Workforce for Today & Tomorrow,” which discussed the reopening of Florida and the future of the state’s businesses. Hosted by Allison Chase, vice president of The Able Trust – Florida Endowment Foundation for Vocational Rehabilitation Vice President Allison Chase, the event also featured Adrienne Johnston, Chief of the Bureau of Labor Market Statistics at the Florida Department of Economic.

Prior to the webinar, a poll was conducted to guarantee attendees’ most pressing questions and concerns were addressed. The event’s interactive discussion revolved around effective pandemic recovery, the re-hiring of Florida’s workforce, practices to ensure diverse hiring and an overview of the industries most affected by the pandemic. There was also heavy emphasis on the steps business leaders can take to safeguard Florida’s success in the future.

As Florida’s reopening progresses, HR Florida and The Able Trust will continue to serve as resources for the state. To learn more about each organization and listen to a recording of the webinar, please visit www.hrflorida.org and www.abletrust.org.
