IAFCCP Honors Corey Pittman with Paramedic Review Course

Snellville, GA, January 2017 - The IAFCCP Board of Directors is pleased to announce a new Association-sponsored review course, "The Pittman Course: Flight & Critical Care Paramedic Review" developed by the late Corey Pittman. This course is designed to prepare flight and critical care professionals pursuing or renewing their Flight Paramedic Certification (FP-C®) and Critical Care Paramedic Certification (CCP-C®) specialty certifications.

Corey Pittman was a well-known certified flight paramedic from North Carolina and a nationally-recognized educator/speaker whose review course yielded one of the highest first time pass rates in the nation. In 2016, Corey's sudden and untimely death stunned the industry and devastated his wife and two young children.

"The Association is deeply honored to be awarded the privilege of collaborating with the Pittman family to continue Corey's legacy through his course." Said IAFCCP President, Kevin Collopy. "Anyone who knew Corey respected him for his passion for teaching and his ability to inspire paramedics to achieve the highest standard of professionalism." A portion of the proceeds from every course will be provided to the Pittman family, while additional proceeds will be used to fund The Corey Pittman Scholarship Fund which will be awarded annually through the association.

The two-day comprehensive review is designed to provide participants a thorough review of complex subject matter critical care transport providers are expected to understand according to the FP-C® and CCP-C® exam detail content outlines. “As a strong supporter of the FP-C® and CCP-C® certifications, we have a responsibility to be actively involved in the education process to help members achieve their professional goals,” said Collopy, adding, “Our goal is to offer The Pittman Course to local and international programs, as well as at national conferences. Part of the IAFCCP’s mission is to provide leadership through education to our association members, as well as to the greater paramedicine community as a whole.” For additional information about hosting this course at your location, please contact the IAFCCP.

Offered at four national conferences each year, EMS Today, the Critical Care Transport Conference (CCTMC), EMS WORLD EXPO, and the Air Medical Transport Conference (AMTC). The inaugural course offering is scheduled for February 23-24, 2017, at the EMS Today Conference in Salt Lake City, Nevada. The course will be held at the Salt Palace Convention Center.

Students can enroll online at www.IAFCCP.org/events. A comprehensive study guide is provided to students and carefully selected instructors will walk students through advanced critical care concepts and patient management principles. They build upon fundamental knowledge, working from years of experience illustrating key points with practical examples.

The IAFCCP is dedicated to providing advocacy, leadership development and educational opportunities for critical care paramedics. We strive to strengthen and unite critical caregivers to enhance safe, efficient and quality patient care worldwide.
