Every page in this catalog represents a $40 donation to BINC, the Book Industry Charitable Foundation.

At the Independent Book Publishers Association (IBPA), we believe the world of ideas and stories is best served when more than the largest corporate voices are heard.

That’s why we’re honored to support the independently published books featured in this quarterly catalog. Our members’ passion for sharing unique and diverse voices provides a bridge that the independent bookselling community can cross hand-in-hand with independent publishers.

You’ll find over 100 titles from IBPA members on the following pages. In addition, you can expect a $1,600 donation to BINC on behalf of the publishers featured here. It’s the IBPA community’s third sizable donation to BINC since the pandemic began in March 2020.

We hope you feel the support, and the love.

And, of course, we hope you’ll take some time to explore the books listed here. With so many titles to choose from, there’s something for every reader!

With respect and appreciation for all you do,

“The plan was that I would go to college, make tons of money, and live happily ever after in a mansion overlooking the beach. At least, that was what the commercials, the college itself, and my parents suggested would be the reality.”
—Alexander Baima

Alexander Baima investigates the decline of purchasing power millennials and young people are facing in today’s economy and offers solutions as to how we can right the ship so that they can build their own foundation of financial security and ensure America’s future prosperity.

Alexander Baima
Alexander Baima is an entrepreneur, innovator and early adopter of blockchain technology and Bitcoin.
The Hunger Games meets Westworld. A cross-genre novel combining thrilling action, adventure, and a love story.

An AI scientist leaves everything behind to find answers about AI consciousness. But a mysterious woman on a personal mission interrupts his search. Fighting unjust forces, their struggles against machines, men, and nature test the resilience of the human spirit.

“Shades of Huxley and Asimov. Gary F. Bengier has created a science fiction adventure that is reminiscent of the masters.” —Lee Scott, for the Florida Times-Union

“It’s a captivating and fast-paced futuristic love story...a future that feels eerily authentic...” —She’s Single Magazine

Author’s Republic
Smashwords
In the shadows of New York City lies North Brother Island, where a shuttered hospital’s remains hide haunting memories of quarantines and human experiments. The Vines intertwines the island’s horrific history with a captivating tale of love, betrayal, and survival.

“The Vines weaves beautiful writing around an unsettling mystery: Who is the strange, scarred woman living on a seemingly uninhabitable island? Shelley Nolden’s debut seems not just prescient—given the world’s current focus on virology and immunizations—but also timeless, as it illustrates in painful detail how mankind seems destined to repeat our cruelest mistakes. Luckily for us readers, there’s a bright thread of hope running through this book—as well as the promise of a sequel.”

—Sarah Pekkanen, #1 NYT bestselling co-author of You Are Not Alone

Shelley Nolden
At the age of 31, Shelley was diagnosed with leukemia and completed treatment three years later. The sense of isolation and fear she experienced during her cancer ordeal influenced her debut novel, The Vines.
A Junior Library Guild Gold Standard Selection

A fascinating journey through primary sources—poetry, memoir, news clippings, and images of ancient artwork—to explore the hidden (and often surprising) Queer lives and loves of two dozen historical figures.

“Entertaining, illuminating, and an accessible antidote to dominant histories.”
—Kirkus Reviews

“Such an important book, both enlightening and entertaining. Highly recommended for readers age 10–110!”
—Linda Sue Park, Newbery Medalist

“Fascinating, ambitious, diverse, rigorously researched, and much-needed—this book will save lives.”
—Kathleen Krull, author of the Lives Of series
