Welcome! Thanks for considering a submission to the ICA Journalism Studies Division
Who We Are and What We Do

- The ICA Journalism Studies Division is one of the largest groups within the International Communication Association
- With 800+ members, ours is the world’s largest group of scholars focused on the study of news and journalism
- Widely diverse approaches are welcome — conceptually, methodologically, globally
- A wide array of topics are encouraged — with the organizing thread being advancing our understanding of journalism: its purposes, practitioners, audiences, etc.
How to submit to the 2024 conference
ICA JSD accepts 3 types of submissions

✓ Scholarly Papers (i.e., “full papers”)

✓ Extended Abstracts (i.e., “works in progress”)

✓ Panel Proposals

See call for papers for full details: https://www.icahdq.org/mpage/JS_CFP
ICA JSD initiatives

✓ PhD Colloquium
✓ Mentorship Programme

https://www.ica-phd-colloquium.news
Example session titles from previous conferences

✓ Misinformation and counter-strategies by fact-checking
✓ Trust in mass media and news
✓ Challenges for journalism and its democratic role
✓ Media Performance and its different dimensions
✓ Journalistic roles: Norms, performance and perceived role enactment
✓ News from the audience perspective
✓ The influence of technology on journalism
✓ Applying framing as a lens for studying news and journalism
✓ News Factors: Source and individual factors predicting journalistic outcomes and visibility
✓ Social Media and their implications for journalism and journalism practice
Reminders and mistakes to avoid

✓ Papers must be anonymized for blind review (no author names!)
✓ Work previously published or accepted for publication is not allowed ✓ Work previously submitted to another conference is not allowed ✓ Set up a profile on ScholarOne and give yourself extra time to submit ✓ Deadline: 1 November @ 12:00 (noon) ICA headquarters time (EDT).
✓ Overall: ensure that you follow details of the call for papers carefully
  ✓ There are general guidelines from ICA: https://www.icahdq.org/page/ConfSubmissionGuidelines
  ✓ And a specific CfP for Journalism Studies: https://www.icahdq.org/mpage/JS_CFP
Diversity and Inclusiveness

✓ ALL methods are welcome! Including…

✓ Quantitative: experiments, surveys, content analysis, etc.
✓ Qualitative: interviews, textual analysis, ethnography, etc.
✓ Computational: ‘big data’ analysis, etc.
✓ Plus, mixed methods as well as theory/concept papers

✓ ALL conceptual approaches and geographic contexts are welcome!

✓ There will be some funding to support travel for graduate students with top papers
Timeline

- 1 November @ 12:00 (noon) ICA headquarters time (EDT): submission deadline
- November: Reviews conducted (all submitters expected to review)
- 10 January: Accept/reject decisions
- 20-24 June 2023: conference held at the Gold Coast
What Questions Do You Have?