The AFRH Conference

AFRH

The Association for Fertility and Reproductive Health (AFRH) is a registered body whose main aim is to promote interest in, and understanding of, reproductive biology and medicine. It does this through facilitating research and subsequent dissemination of research findings in human reproduction and embryology to the general public, scientists, clinicians and patient associations; it also works to inform politicians and policy makers throughout Nigeria and Africa.

On a more applied level, it aims to promote improvements in clinical practice through organizing teaching, training and continuing medical education activities, developing and maintaining data registries and implementing methods to improve safety and quality assurance in clinical and laboratory procedures. For more information about AFRH visit: www.afrhnigeria.org

About AFRH Conference 2017

AFRH Conference 2017 is the seventh Annual Edition of the foremost reproductive medicine meeting of the year, boasting phenomenal scientific, postgraduate, and video programs.
