The objectives of the Federation shall be:

a. To stimulate basic and applied research and the dissemination of knowledge in all aspects of reproduction and fertility.

c. To contribute to the standardization of terminology and evaluation of diagnostic and therapeutic procedures in the field of reproduction.

g. To promote patient safety, high standards of care and evidence based practice that enhance patient care in the field of reproduction and fertility.

h. To increase knowledge in reproduction and fertility by promoting and organizing education and training in collaboration with member societies and other organizations.

Article 3

The duration of the Federation shall be unlimited. Its seat shall be established in the USA. The working language of the General Assembly, Board of Directors and Committees shall be English.

As English is the international scientific language, documents such as the constitution will not normally be available in other languages.

Article 4

The membership of the Federation shall include those societies who have stated an interest in the clinical and research aspects of reproduction and fertility. They must have a constitution which conforms with the objectives as specified in Article 2 of this Constitution. Furthermore, they must have a minimum of 40 members.

An "associated" society is a society or a federation of IFFS member societies which pursue the same or similar goals as IFFS and has a written constitution consistent with the mission of the IFFS.

An association can be proposed by the Board of Directors, and ratified by the General Assembly, if the associated society sends in writing to the Secretary General of the Federation an application which includes a copy of its constitution showing that it satisfies the same requirements as for a member society.

There is no need to declare its intention to abide by the Constitution.

An association with IFFS may include a series of relations, notably:
- exchange lectures and sessions during congresses
- links on the Internet
- collaborative works on ethics, consensus clinical standards which are to be defined at the time of the association and can be revised whenever needed by both Boards of Directors.

The associated society pays no dues to IFFS and does not take part in voting but is invited to IFFS General Assemblies as observer. Moreover the Associated Society has a consultatory status on important matters such as congress dates and venues or other issues.

The Federation Board of Directors may establish other non-voting member categories at its discretion. The Board may decide if these non-voting categories are dues paying and the nature of their access to the Federation’s resources. The development, control, and design of these member types will be documented in the official Federation Board operating
In particular, the Federation may take individual non-voting members in order to increase the visibility of the Federation’s activities. These individual members should share the goals and philosophy of the Federation.

Article 5

A non-member society may join the Federation, provided it:

a. Sends in writing to the Secretary General of the Federation, an application which includes a copy of its constitution showing that it satisfies the requirements set out in Article 4, and a current membership list.

b. Declares its intention to abide by the Constitution and By-Laws of the Federation.

c. Undertakes to make financial contributions in such form and within the time limits as may be decided by the General Assembly.

The Board of Directors of the Federation (formerly known as the Executive Committee) will discuss the application and vote on conferring membership to the applicant. A report of new members will be presented to the General Assembly.

Article 6

Membership in the Federation may be rescinded by the Board of Directors. In such cases the decision to rescind membership will be reported to the General Assembly at the next Congress. Reasons for rescinding IFFS membership include:

a. By withdrawal, subject to a period of notice to be fixed by the By-Laws (No. 1).

b. By default in the payment of contributions to the Federation over a period of time to be fixed by the By-Laws (No. 2).

c. In pursuance of a decision taken by the Board of Directors, a report will be made to the General Assembly.

d. The Board of Directors may, after giving notice, exclude from the Federation any society, the attitude, action or policy of which is detrimental to the reputation or interests of the Federation or the behavior of which casts discredit upon the profession. No exclusion may be founded upon reasons of philosophical, religious, political or racial nature.

e. Following a decision to revoke membership confirmed by the General Assembly, the member society will be given the opportunity to appeal against the decision. The appeal will be made in writing to the Secretary General, supported by relevant documentation including a contemporary constitution and current membership list. After due consideration the Board of Directors will provide its decision which will be final.

Reinstatement of membership in the Federation:

a. Any member society excluded from the Federation may appeal to the General Assembly for reinstatement if the circumstances under which the suspension or exclusion took place no longer apply. The appeal must be made in writing to the Secretary General with adequate documentation supporting their reasons for reinstatement.

II - Contributions

Article 7

Each affiliated society shall pay to the Federation an annual contribution that is proportional to the dues paying members of that society.

The amount of this contribution will be fixed by the General Assembly and laid down in the By-Laws (No. 3).

However, ordinary General Assemblies may take valid decisions on points not included in the agenda if supported by two-thirds of the votes present.

Should this quorum not be reached, the General Assembly shall be convened again within the time limit prescribed by the By-Laws (No. 10). This subsequent General Assembly meeting may make a valid decision irrespective of the number of votes represented at the meeting.

In no case may the Federation be dissolved unless agreed to by a simple majority of the votes represented at the General Assembly, which was summoned to take the decision.

In the event of the Federation being dissolved under the above provision, or as a result of a legal or judicial process, the General Assembly shall appoint two or more commissioners charged with the liquidation of the assets of the Federation.
