

ITPS Coming to Atlanta and More IHEA News

The International Thermprocess Summit (ITPS), designed to bring upper management from manufacturing plants and industry suppliers together for networking and information exchange, returns to the U.S. next summer.

Held July 30-Aug. 1 at the Intercontinental Buckhead in Atlanta, Ga., the 2½-day event will feature cutting-edge sessions for industrial heating executives. Tabletops and sponsorships will be available. ITPS will be a joint event with the International Finishing & Coatings Summit sponsored by the Chemical Coaters Association International.

The ITPS program, which is currently in the planning stages, will feature presentation topics such as:

- The impact of Brexit on your business
- Skilled worker solutions
- Market updates and trends
- The future of NAFTA
- Additive-manufacturing technologies
- Thermal processing of electric and autonomous vehicles and its impact on the industry

IHEA Member Voucher Program

The IHEA Board of Directors recently enhanced IHEA member benefits for nearly every membership type. Under the new membership program, most categories of membership will include two meeting vouchers. Corporate End User members will receive four vouchers. The vouchers may be used to attend IHEA seminars, online courses, the Annual Meeting and the Fall Business Conference.

One of the benefits of the voucher program is that member companies can use vouchers for their employees or their customers. Two vouchers are required to attend the Annual Meeting; and one voucher is required to attend seminars, online courses and the Fall Business Conference.

All vouchers are for good for the membership year only and will not carry over. The only exception is a new member joining after Aug. 1. The vouchers will be valid for one year from the membership start date for the first year.

IHEA Membership Categories

IHEA currently has four membership categories.

- Manufacturing member: Any person, firm or corporation engaged in the manufacture and/or design of industrial heat-processing equipment for sale on the open market is eligible. The term “industrial heat-processing equipment” is determined by the Board of Directors.
- Professional Services member: Any individual, firm or corporation that provides a professional service to the industry in the area of engineering, education, publications, research and development, and related fields is eligible. The term “professional service” is determined by the Board of Directors.
- Corporate End User member: Any corporation actively engaged in the end use of industrial thermal-processing technologies. The term “corporate end user” is determined by the Board of Directors.
- Consulting member: Any individual actively engaged in providing consulting services to the industrial thermal-processing technologies industry. This category is open to consultants who are a one-member LLC or sole proprietor. The term “consultant” is determined by the Board of Directors. Consulting members are not eligible for the voucher program.

For information on ITPS, the member voucher program or to become a member, visit www.ihea.org.

IHEA members enjoying the Fall Business Conference.