Disaster Preparedness and Response Resources Available From the IICRC

After the devastating wildfire that recently swept through California, the IICRC expanded its suite of online resources and created a Disaster Preparedness Resource Page on its website to help home and business owners, as well as industry technicians and Certified Firms, prepare for and respond to natural disaster events in their communities.

The page includes educational information, safety tips, fact sheets and how-to videos for both consumers and technicians when entering and cleaning up after a flood, fire, hurricane or mold-damaged property.

The page also includes shareable content for firms to use on social media to educate their followers and potential customers, as well as a link to find an IICRC certified expert.

To request additional resources to add to the Disaster Preparedness Resource Page, email marketing@iicrcnet.org.
