

2019 National Symposium Sponsorship Opportunities

Get your company's name in front of today's industry and government technology leaders at the IJIS Institute National Symposium!

The audience at past National Symposium events has been composed of government, industry, nonprofit, and academia attendees focused on justice, public safety, homeland security, and health and human services. Attendees are executives, key decision makers, and senior software developers from government and industry information technology communities who are interested in information sharing and technology innovation.

IJIS Institute provides government employees with free registration for the National Symposium to encourage a more diversified audience and a venue that will help our Members make new and valuable connections.
