The Leadership Forum was developed to help prepare our future leaders, not with a traditional classroom environment, but through interactive discussions with water industry leaders, collaboration with peers, and experiencing first-hand the sights and sounds of what it takes to be a leader.

This is an intensive, educational program for staff who are interested in and have a potential to assume a larger leadership role in their organization. Participants will be introduced to critical issues and top decision-makers through a series of day-long sessions.
