Careers in Podiatric Medicine

Congratulations on your decision to pursue a career in podiatric medicine. Podiatric medicine is challenging, rewarding, satisfying, and exciting. Our doctors see a wide range of patients every day, from pediatric to geriatric. In addition, they can subspecialize in areas such as sports medicine, primary medicine, and/or orthopedics. This section links you to the eight colleges of podiatric medicine.

American Association of Colleges of Podiatric Medicine \(AACPM\)

The AACPM website provides you with more information on education and careers in podiatric medicine. You can apply online at www.e-aacpmas.org to any or all of the eight colleges of podiatric medicine. In addition, you can find answers to frequently asked questions, information regarding financial assistance, and you can learn more about the DPM Mentor Network.

The DPM Mentor Network gives you the ability to contact a podiatric physician in your area to get more information about the profession or to make arrangements to visit the office of a podiatrist. You can choose your state and city and contact the doctor who is the most geographically desirable based on your location. This is an outstanding way to find out if podiatric medicine is the "career that fits your future."

The podiatrists listed on the Network are available for different levels of interaction: from e-mail contacts and shadowing to presentations to students and community gatherings.
