10 GREAT REASONS

As a student member of the American Physical Therapy Association, you knew all the great reasons there were for joining APTA. Now that you’re graduating and launching your career, there are even greater reasons to stay with APTA:

1. Save money.
As a student member of APTA, you’re entitled to 50% off your national dues — a one-time-only savings — if you convert to full membership within 90 days of graduation.

2. Get a jump on your career.
APTA membership helps you make valuable contacts and build a professional network.

3. Make job contacts.
APTA helps you find employment opportunities through national job listings in APTA publications and opportunities to meet potential employers at APTA events.

4. Stay current in the field.
You can count on APTA’s four information-packed publications — Physical Therapy, Clinical Management, Progress Report, and PT Bulletin — to keep you abreast of important advances in physical therapy.

5. Focus your interests.
If you’ve found a special area of interest, APTA’s Sections can give you the chance to meet with others sharing those interests, as well as giving you an edge if you’re considering certification in any of the seven specialty areas recognized by the American Board of Physical Therapy Specialties.

6. Sharpen professional skills.
Once you’re out of school, it will be harder to keep up with the latest advances in physical therapy. APTA is there to help with informational publications, workshops, and seminars.

7. Make new friends.
APTA activities involve you with your peers locally and nationally: people who share your interests and concerns.

8. Get the answers — now.
When you need professional information right away, you can get it — free of charge — from APTA’s Information Central, just by dialing 1-800-999-APTA, ext. 3210.

9. Build leadership skills.
Active involvement in your local APTA district or chapter or in a specialty section can provide excellent opportunities to advance your professional reputation and your career goals.

10. Save money.
It’s not a mistake; we put this in twice because we wanted you to notice this great benefit. Save on membership and all the services APTA offers! You’ll enjoy discounts on publications and educational programs, and group savings on loans, mortgages, insurance, and other financial services only if you’re an APTA member.
