Washington Cab Card

Description: The WA IRP cab card is "8 x 11 1/2" and is printed on plain white paper using a laser jet printer. The seal of the state of Washington appears in the background. The print is in black ink. The Washington seal in the background is a light gray. The logo of the Washington State Department of Licensing is in the upper left hand portion of the cab card and is a darker black then the printed information on the card. The cab card title says "Washington Registration Cab Card" and is also a darker black then the printed information on the card. The form number is PR-450-131. WA announced on March 15, 2005 that it will begin to issue a new apportioned plate series that will consist of five numbers followed by the letters RP, for example, "00000RP".
