

Access Information from Intl. Airports to the Conference Site and Nearby Hotels

There are two international airports near Tokyo, namely Haneda and Narita.

FROM Haneda Airport

Haneda is one of the busiest airport in the world, which has very easy access to downtown Tokyo. Recently Haneda has been internationalized very rapidly, and it has direct flights from major Asian and European cities, and some North American and Australian cities.

<http://www.haneda-tokyo-access.com/en/>

The most recommended route from Haneda to Nihon University and nearby hotels is as follows:

Please take Tokyo Monorail at Haneda Airport International Terminal Station to Hamamatsu-cho Station. Then take JR (Japan Rail) Yamanote-line or Keihin-Tohoku-line at Hamamatsu-cho Station to Akihabara Station. Then take JR Chuo-line at Akihabara Station to Suidobashi Station.

The Conference site (Nihon University College of Law) and nearby hotels are 5 to 10 minutes walk from Suidobashi Station. It takes 60 minutes or less from Haneda Airport. If your destination is the Tokyo Central Youth Hostel (TCYH), you are advised to get off at Idabashi instead of Suidobashi. You can walk only 2 minutes to reach CYH from Idabashi Station.

FROM Narita Airport

Narita is the largest international airport in Japan, which has direct flights to approximately 300 cities. Recently increasing number of LCC flights are available from major Asian Cities

<http://www.narita-airport.jp/en/access/index.html>

The most recommended route from Narita to Nihon University and nearby hotels is as follows:

Please take Keisei Skyliner or Sky Access at Narita Airport Station to Nippori Station. Take Yamanote-line or Keihin-Tohoku line at Nippori Station to Akihabara Station. Then take JR Chuo-line at Akihabara Station to Suidobashi Station. The Conference site (Nihon University College of Law) and nearby hotels are 5 to 10 minutes walk from Suidobashi Station. It takes approximately 90 minutes from Narita Airport. If your destination is the Tokyo Central Youth Hostel (TCYH), you are advised to get off at Idabashi instead of Suidobashi. You can walk only 2 minutes to reach CYH from Idabashi Station.