The Parliament of the World's Religions is the world's largest and premier interfaith gathering and will be hosted this year from November 1-7, 2018 in Toronto. This seven-day event has in the past featured appearances from luminaries like the His Holiness the XIV Dalai Lama, President Nelson Mandela, Nobel Laureate Shirin Ebadi, United Nations Messenger of Peace Dr. Jane Goodall, and President Jimmy Carter.

The Parliament will feature more than 500 artistic, cultural, scholarly, and interactive sessions, presented by a diverse and international group of selected session leaders. Each day will be anchored by plenaries and major assemblies focused on the Parliament's core issues and constituencies:

- Interfaith Understanding
- Grassroots and Global Movements
- The Dignity of Women
- Indigenous Wisdom and Faith Systems and the Sharing of Indigenous Traditional Spiritual Knowledge
- The Next Generation of Leaders
- Climate Action
- Countering Hate & Violence, and Advancing Concrete Change for a More Just, Peaceful, and Sustainable World.

This 2018 Parliament of the World's Religions will be the seventh convening and coincide with the 125-year anniversary of the inaugural World Parliament of Religions, one of best-attended congresses held during the 1893 World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago, USA, and will also honor the 25-year anniversary of the centenary Parliament of the World's Religions held in Chicago in 1993.
