

Jain Digest Committee looking for “Young Jain” Authors

The theme of the August 2016 issue of Jain Digest is “Young Jains”. The theme of the August 2016 issue of Jain Digest is “Young Jains”. Therefore, committee is looking for young Jain authors who are interested to share their experiences on following topics:

- 1) Growing up in North America as a Jain – Where, you will share your childhood experiences; up to high school. You can provide a general narration about your trials and triumphs or a write about a specific incident.
- 2) Learning about Jainism – You are expected to describe about your pathshala learning experience. You can describe ‘a typical day in pathshala’ and take our readers on a virtual tour of your pathshala class. Or you can write about one or two things that you learned about Jainism that has made an impact on you.
- 3) Practicing Jain Principles at college or work – Here you will share specific college or work incidences where you were able to apply some of the Jain principles you have learned.
- 4) Jain Entrepreneurs – If you or someone you know has a business that uses Jain values, principles as a basis for their venture, committee would like to publish information about it.

Article length should be of minimum 200 words to maximum of 1,000 words. You can also include pictures related to your write-up. The deadline to submit your entry is May 23, 2016. Your entry will be reviewed by the Jain Digest Editorial Team and you will be notified by May 31st if your entry is selected for publication.

Please send your entry as a Microsoft Word file to jaindigestpublication@gmail.com
You can also write to us or call us at 310-721-5947 if you have any questions. Looking forward to hearing from you.

Jai Jinendra,

Jain Digest Editorial Team

